PA NEWC OBSERVES

The giant dirigible at Akron, O., was "walked" part way out of the hangar at Akron, yesterday, for the first time. The dirigible continues to attract large throngs of spectators from Lawrence County. The route from New Castle to Akron, from Poland, O., still has a detour, Pa Newc is informed. This detour has existed on the direct route the entire summer. When this detour is removed, the hangar will be easily reached from New Castle, as it is almost a direct route to the hanger from this city.

Pa Newc stopped to register early this morning as he came to the office, but lo and behold, he couldn't do it, for the voting place was minus a table and accessories for the registrars to get to work with. Pa Newc is hoping they have that precinct fixed up before time for the place to close tonight. Have you registered yet?

It was expected this morning that a goodly number of Pa Newc's citizenry would turn out for the first of the three registration days today even though the weatherman threatened to dampen things a bit. Sept. 1 and 12 are the next registration dates. You register or you don't vote.

"Safety First" should ever be the watchword, but parents of school children are especially reminded to preach its importance to youngsters as the school bells begin to toll. Especially so should safety steps be taken in cases where pupils cross heavily traveled highways or railroad tracks. Warn them to take no chances!

Even if the city playgrounds are officially closed one finds that energetic youngsters still congregate on some of the grounds for daily romps.

Strangers, Pa Newc finds, just naturally ask questions. Seems it's that way everywhere. Any number of

STATE TROOPERS RAID ERIE GREYHOUND RACES

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Eight men were under arrest today as the result of a spectacular raid by State troopers on the Greyhound races at Exposition Park last night.

The raid followed completion of the seventh race on the Park's card. A detail of troopers under the command of Captain Jacob Mauk hurdled a high fence enclosing the track, made their way to the Park's offices and took the track workers into custody.

All were taken before a justice of the peace where bail was furnished pending further hearings.

Several dogs also were seized.

The raid was not unexpected. State troops had threatened another raid after sponsors of the races had obtained an injunction prohibiting interference with lawful operation of the track.

Hundred Thousand Line Boulevards To See Lindy And Wife

By JAMES P. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Aug. 27—Accompanied by representatives of the Japanese Government, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who yesterday received one of the most tumultuous welcomes ever accorded to foreigners by this city, today visited the shrine of the famous Emporor Meiji and the Yasukini shrine, dedicated to the heroes of the Russo-Japanese war.

After paying their respects to the memories of the 'departed spirits" the Lindberghs returned to the home of Dr. Rudolph B. Teusler, head physician of St. Luke's International hospital, where they are guests. There they perused the English-language newspapers, telegrams of congratulations and hundreds of invitations.

Later Lindbergh took the train fer Kasumigaura naval airdrome to look over his plane.

100,000 Line Boulevards

At least 100,000 people lined Hirohito Boulevard to see the flyers as they went from Yueno station, where they arrived from Kasumiguara airport, to Dr. Teusler.s residence. Frenzied "banzais" (hurrahs) greeted them all along the two-and-a-half miles route and more than once the crowd broke through the police cordon.

With the couple was W. Cameron Forbes, American ambassador, while Edwin L. Neville, counselor to the embassy, Mrs. Neville and Mrs. Jas. Russell, embassy hostess, followed in another automobile.

Will Go To China

At the Teusler home were gathered fifty newspaper reporters and a score of photographers. Colonel Lindbergh told the reporters that

Beaver Falls Firemen Hurt

Heavy Damage Done By Fire As Result Of Mystery Explosion

FALLING WALL HITS FIREMEN

Estimate 25,000 Throng Park For Merchants Picnic

Record Crowd Of Many Years At Cascade Park On Wednesday

MANY FEATURES MARK PROGRAM

Large Number of Awards And Free Eats Given Out During Day

Estimates are that approximately twenty-five thousand people braved the rain and resulting mud at Cascade Park on Wednesday, in order to participate in the third annual outing of the merchants of the city, for the people of New Castle and Lawrence county.

It was the most successful of these events yet held and the attendance record of the present year, and in fact for many previous years were broken by the vast throng of people, who went to the park for at least part of the day to enjoy the hospitality of the merchants, who were associated together in the gigantic event.

Carry Out Program

Regardless of the weather conditions, the committeemen in charge of the various features of the affair went on with the program according to schedule, starting in the early morning with sports and ending in the evening with the awarding of the automobile given away in connection with the affair.

Many baskets of food were also awarded to various fortunate persons attending the picnic at different periods during the day. Featuring the morning and early afternoon was the Country Store, where thousands of articles were disposed of for the small sum of ten cents and always exceeded in value the price paid.

Free distribution of hot dog sandwiches and coffee and cream in the picnic grove at noon and again in the early evening was another real-

Farmers Aroused By Dog Killing Goats And Cows

Constable W. J. Edwards And Posse Guarding Farms In Hillsville District

NO CLUE FOUND TO OWNERSHIP OF DOG

Armed with shotguns and rifles, farmers in the vicinity of Hillsville are searching for a big German police dog and two smaller dogs which have been playing havoc with live stock. It is not known whether or not the German police dog is mad, but it's actions would indicate that it is ferocious.

On last Sunday night Attica Gasteroni, who lives near Hillsville, had three goats killed by the German police dog and two smaller dogs. Members of the family saw the dogs, but could not get a shot at them.

Serious Loss

Loss of his goats is a serious one for Mr. Gasteroni, as one of them was giving over a gallon of milk and supplied his family. Mr. Gasteroni had paid $40 for the milk goat. All three goats were badly mutilated by the dogs. Constable William J. Edwards was notified and started on a search for the dogs. Willie McBride and Squire James H. Eakin, were appointed to appraise the value of the goats.

On Monday night Joe Berdino, who also lives near Hillsville, heard a commotion in his herd of cattle, and on going to investigate found that a valuable milk cow had been so torn and mutilated that she had to be shot. The cow had been fresh only five weeks. Mr. Berdino has a family of seven or eight children, and the loss is a severe one for him.

Fils To Hit Dog

Tuesday night another resident of Mahoning township was awakened by the bellowing of his cattle. Seizing a gun he rushed out. He found the German police dog had driven his cattle into one corner of a field and was attacking viciously. The dog started to run as the farmer approached. The man got a shot at the dog but the range was too long and the shot failed to bring down the dog.

Farmers in the neighborhood are greatly worried. Last night Constable Edwards and several aids were out nearly all night looking for the dog. Other farmers in the neighborhood were guarding their cattle with shot guns and rifles.

So far the owner of the dog has not been found.

Over 650 Proxy Tax Payments Already Made In Lawrence County

Registration Is Not Heavy

Registrars Expect Rush This Afternoon And Evening In City

SOME CONFUSION OVER TIME PERIODS

Following the usual routine, registrars of the city had but little to do this morning, the first opportunity to register in the City of New Castle. Most registry booths had but few voters in and the first period from eight to ten o'clock fast time resulted in a scant few registering.

In some precincts there was a little confusion arising over the use of Daylight Savings Time. The law provides that the registry booths shall open at seven o'clock Eastern Standard time and remain open until nine A. M. They re-open at eleven o'clock Eastern Standard time and stay open until two. They reopen at four and remain open until ten. These times are all Eastern Standard time, which means one hour later by Daylight Saving Time.

One precinct, the seventh of the Second Ward, reported a rather unusual condition. A deputy constable made his appearance at the registry booth and announced that he was there to see that the registration was conducted properly. A call to the county commissioners office brought the reply that there was no provision for deputy constables in a registration booth as they were appointed for the sole purpose of aiding in the conduct of elections.

Indications point to a large registration in the City of New Castle for the primary election on September 15. Part of this is due to the fact that there is a natural interest in the coming election due to the large number of candidates and part of it is probably due to the fact that a considerable number of citizens are having their (personal) taxes paid for them by proxy.

Up until now, according to County Treasurer Adda M. Smiley, there have been approximately 650 persons' personal taxes paid by representatives, that is, the taxpayer signs an authorization slip and this is presented to the county treasurer by the person paying the taxes for the voter.

In some cases one representative has paid as high as 100 sets of personal taxes, in each case presenting an authorization slip for the payment of the taxes.

Each day sees more of the proxy taxes paid and by September 2, the last day for the payment of taxes, it is estimated there will have been 1000 voters qualified to vote, who did not pay their taxes in person.

Wealthy Turfman Released Denies $50,000 Ransom Paid

Gang Czar Eludes Officers Who Want To Quiz Him In Case

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Aug. 27—John R. "Jack" Lynch, wealthy turfman who was kidnaped and held for a king's ransom, came back home today.

His haggard face revealing the strain he has been under during his week of imprisonment, the sporting man drove up to his spacious mansion on Lake Geneva a few hours after dawn.

Lynch denied reports that $50,000 had been paid for his release. Originally, the abductors—who were sought by the Star detectives of Chicago and Southern Wisconsin, as well as by Capone henchmen—had set their demands at $250,000. This was one of the largest ransoms ever asked by kidnapers.

Was Treated Well

The turfman declared the abductors had treated him well. About midnight last night, he said, they took him out in a car, transferred him to his own car, warned him not to remove the blindfold for ten minutes, and then allowed him to drive away.

"I drove to the nearest intersection," Lynch asserted, "where I

OSLO, Aug. 27.—Within a few hundred miles of the North Pole, the submarine Nautilus probed into the mysteries of the Arctic today.

According to messages received Here, Sir Hubert Wilkins and his corps of scientists aboard the submersible made the first use of a "Deep Sea Bottom Sampler" carried on the Polar expedition. A long glass tube was dropped to the ocean depths.

When it was brought up, the tube contained a fifteen inch deposit of brown mud, with a pale blue two inch sub-strata beneath it.

Former Follies Girl Being Held For Questioning

Hilda Ferguson, Former Follies Beauty, Will Be Questioned In Night Club Brawl

BOY FRIEND IS BADLY WOUNDED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—While "Tough Willie" McCabe, a pal of the slain gaming king, Arnold Rothstein, was recovering from wounds received in a night club brawl, Hilda Ferguson, former Follies girl, was held today in $5000 bail as a witness in general sessions.

The authorities want Miss Ferguson, who was a friend of Dot King, the show girl and model who was murdered in 1923, to tell about the quarrel at the Sixty-One night club in which McCabe was stabbed and hit with a water pitcher yesterday.

"My dear, I was in the women's room when the stabbing occurred and I really don't know anything about it," Miss Ferguson told Judge Freschi. The judge smiled at the "my dear" and Miss Ferguson went immediately to Harlem prison.

Sam Thrope, owner of the club said two men had walked past a table where McCabe, Miss Ferguson and another couple were sitting and that McCabe threw a drink in the face of one of the men. The fight followed.

out-of-town motorists have inquired the way through town from pedestrians since the East Washington street bridge barrier was raised, even with conspicuous detour direction signs before them. Must just want to make sure it's the right route.

An out-of-towner idly watching the work of the night shift force on the Washington St. bridge the other night, casually spoke to Pa Newc as he hesitated to note the days progress. It developed that the stranger was a European traveler passing through here. For some time Pa Newc listened to his stories, especially of fantastic Venice. He said the water and the bridge helped to recall it to him.

Seems to be more street repair work under way here at the present time than for a long while. Workmen are to be seen installing new pipes or making pavement repairs in an unusually large number of places.

Candidates were certainly in their glory last night. They were all out at the park, where a crowd of thousands had assembled for the merchant's picnic, and made the most of the opportunity for electioneering.

Pa Newc observed an old flivver being driven about the city yesterday with the inscription, "The last rose of Summer," on it. It well looked the part.

Announcement of fall football practice brings to mind the fact that summer is well on its way. It won't be long now until the air will be filled with cheers and falling leaves and snowflakes.

Courtesy to out of town motorists is the first idea of Tommy Jones, cornerman in the local traffic squad at Mill and Washington streets. Minor infraction of traffic rules by visiting motorists are not taken as necessity of making arrests. This is a policy that pays, Pa Newc is certain. And while we are on the subject, why woufdn't it be a good idea to erect a small traffic compartment for the officer at the corner. It is done in many other cities. It also gives visitors somewhere to go to secure information about traffic laws, routes, etc., when going thru the city.

Motorists traveling on West North street should remember to stop at the intersection of Beaver and at the intersection of Shenango. Pa Newc has seen several cars lose the paint from their fenders at those corners.

That was some big bon-fire Pa Newc saw on the East Brook road last night, near the intersection of the Lakewood road. Must have been a corn roast and Pa was tempted to chisel himself in.

A local chap who left for a hitch hiking trip recently writes from Philadelphia telling Pa Newc that bumming isn't so "hot". Rides are hard to get and traveling that way isn't much fun.

The North street bridge has proven to be a boon to thousands of motorists this past week, since the temporary closing of the Washington street bridge.

If a certain young man of this city, to whom Pa Newc was talking recently, had charge of the paving of the city streets, we wouldn't have to buy any bricks. His plan is to remove the bricks from the streets that need re-paving, and just turn each one over! If they are worn on one side, just turn them over. Well, well.

Just two weeks, less than two weeks until the city schools start. Most of the students by this time are a wee bit bored with vacation and whether they admit it or not, will be rather glad to slide under the desks once again.

A local mechanic was asked to repair an automobile horn the other day and succeeded in getting the wires slightly twisted. The owner of the car drove to Butler in the afternoon and headed back to New Castle that night. He turned on the headlights and the horn started blowing. It was a rather noisy journey home and the mechanic heard all about it the next day.

Asked what was the most perilous moment of his flight across the Pacific to Japan, Lindbergh said:

"I would not say we were in any danger. Our worst time was when the anchor rope broke at Ketoi. But the Shinshiri Maru was standing by and we are under great obligation to to captain of that ship."

To Receive Decoration

In recognition of his various aerial achievements and his latest flight from New York to Tokyo, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will receive a decoration of merit from the hands of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, it was learned by International News Service today.

Colonel Lindbergh will be the first American to receive a decoration personally conferred by the present emperor.

Plans for the presentation are virtually complete and the honor will be conferred in a short time.

Colonel Lindbergh paid a visit to the Kasumigaura naval air station this afternoon to inspect the plane which carried him safely across the Pacific. Upon his return to the capital he joined Mrs. Lindbergh at their temporary home here. She had spent the greater part of the afternoon looking over the avalanche of invitations to luncheons, banquets and entertainments extended to them by persons high in Japanese social and public life.

Colonel Lindbergh will speak over the radio to the United States between 7:30 and 8:10 a. m. tomorrow. The broadcast will begin with a speech of welcome by Matajiro Koizumi, minister of communications, and Colonel Lindbergh will then deliver a short address. The Japanese army band will play a number of selections.

Colonenl Lindbergh will attend a reception at the Tokyo Club tomorrow afternoon, tendered by the American community in Tokyo. United States Ambassador William Cameron Forbes will act as official host.

ly outstanding feature of the occasion. There was such a grand rush, particularly on the part of the boys, that those in charge of the distribution had difficulty in managing the crowd. In fact the situation was almost beyond control at times, when the great throng rushed the place of distribution and almost carried away the stand, workers and supplies. Police were used in the effort to maintain order but it would have taken a regiment to have controlled the situation at this point.

Difficult For Judges

At the dance hall, there was a large crowd all afternoon, enjoying the hospitality, again, of the participating merchants of the city. and when the prize waltz was held, there were so many contestants that the judges had a difficult time of it in making their selections.

Sports Events

Winners reported in the various sports events and having claimed their prizes, according to the report of those in charge were as follows: Girls Twenty-Five Yard Dash, 6 to 10 years, First, Helen Buly, second, Alice Downing.

Boy's Freckle Contest: irst, Dan Seltzer, second, Arthur Pander.

Ladies Balloon Contest: First, Mrs. Ickes; second, Edna Bruner.

Young Men's Three Legged Race: First, Mauk Perrett and Patsy James.

Ladies Blindfold Race: First, Edna Bruner; second, Lydia Jones.

Boy's Shoe Race: First, Frank Collella; second, Harold Richardson.

Pie Contest Is Scene

There was a gigantic pie eating contest scheduled for the affair, but it just didn't happen. Archie Cohen and his cohorts in charge of this event tried to put it on, but then there were forty-five pies and something like six hundred boys, who wanted to chance to eat them and when the effort was made to pass them out to prospective contestants, there was one grand rush and when the rush was over, there just wasn't any pie, because they were all crushed under the onrushing feet of the multitude.

The rain did interfere with the mushball game scheduled between the St. Andrews and Trinity church teams to the extent that the general impression was gained that the game was not to be played and few went to the Cascade Grounds near the parking lot in the park to see it. It was played, however, and was a hotly contested affair with St. Andrews team winning, 6-3. The small number of fans in attendance witnessed a real fast contest.

Prize Waltz

Prize waltzing contest in the Rainbow Terrace attracted a crowd that overflowed into the open, owing to the fact that so many were interested in witnessing the event.

Something like a hundred couples started in the competition, which was judged by Jack Gerson, H. F. Welch, B. A. Scott and Reed McCullough, but this dwindled down to three in the final of the event.

The winners of the first prize were Miss Helen Perry and Sherwood Johns. The second prize went to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mayo. In the final decision, the applause of the audience determined the status of those participating, the judges making the award according to the applause of the immense throng.

Wins An Auto

When it came to the awarding of the automobile, which took place about 8:30 o'clock, the throng of upturned faces surrounding the truck used by those in charge filled every bit of available space in the part of the park devoted to concessions and located near the original entrance at the east end of the park.

The judges were Emanuel Shenkan, H. F. Welch, Barton E. Richards, T. E. Chambers, Benjamin Brown and Ivor Davis. Master Adam Krezo of 1606 Morris street, was selected to draw the numbers.

Mrs. Carl Covert, of Raney Avenue, South New Castle Borough, was the fortunate person to be awarded the car.

During the earlier afternoon there were awards of baskets of fruit and foodstuff made to many people with the little Misses Betty Jones of 809 Harrison street, and Mary Berkel of 122 West Chartes street, selecti the winners. G. Everett Anderson, Ivor Davis and others did the ballyhooing.

Among those so fortunate as to win baskets were: Mrs. Weir, 920 Temple avenue; Mrs. Ralph Baker, 1210 Delaware avenue; Bernard Schooley, 244 West Moody avenue; Mrs. Fred Klink, 1808 Audley avenue; Mrs. Carl Wallace, 416 Martin street; John Gennick, 1022 South Jefferson street; Mrs. Alma Smiley, 338 Andrew street; Robert Walzer, 244 Smithfield street; Anthony Peluse 722½ Pearson street; John Gross 489 Neshannock avenue.

Anna Marion Critchlow, 1122 Dewey avenue; Mrs. T. E. Kennelly, 720 Cleveland avenue; Thomas Pawlah, 140 Morehead avenue; William Clark, 107½ East Reynolds street; Nicholas Colnot, Ray street; George Hall, Croton avenue; Mrs. J. K. Peterson, Croton avenue; Billie Trick, 108 Euclid avenue.

Helen Koch, 427 Galbreath avenue; Charles Meade, Euclid avenue; John Barrett, Hanna street; Mrs. W. T. Dukes, 111 Park avenue; Mrs. E. E. Hague, 809 Wallace avenue and Ada Alexander of 835 Harrison street.

Frank W. Hill, secretary and publicity chairman for the event, at the close of the days program broadcasted throughout the park, the thanks and appreciation of the merchants, saying among other things "Hello Friends. The merchants that sponsored this picnic hope you have all had a pleasant and enjoyable time. We hope you will remember the merchants, who were not too selfish to participate. Those who closed their stores are your friends and enjoyed the days outing with you. They don't consider themselves too good to be in your company and therefore should be judged accordingly. Spend Your Money with the merchants that appreciate your patronage, I am speaking for all the merchants in New Castle, who were kind enough and liberal enough to associate in this event. We want you all prepared for a much more elaborate and better day at our picnic next year."

DETROIT ALLEGED "WITCH WOMAN" IS HELD FOR MURDER

hatreds of the brown house where the "witch lady" lives.

Mrs. Veres is known as the "witch lady" by the neighbors who stand in groups on the sidewalks and in the street before the house where the police say Mrs. Veres pushed Steven Mak, 68, her tenth alleged victim, out of an attic window to his death.

"The 'witch lady' is in jail again," they murmured as they watched the house where for 10 years Mrs. Veres has lived and where her name has come to mean something sinister and dark. Then they tell wild tales of the charms she can conjure and the evil she causes when "she casts an eye on you."

Didn't Come Home.

The crowds in the street waited until very late last night. They were sure Mrs. Veres would be freed, that she would come home.

"She has strange powers," they explained in a whisper. "She boasts she cannot stay in jail and she knows the magic to get out."

Always before, the neighbors said, when there was trouble and she was arrested, Mrs. Veres would return home—smiling grimly.

Witnesses brought into the office of George Stutz, assistant prosecutor, begged not to be forced to look Mrs. Veres "in the eye". One able-bodied man refused to go into the same room with her.

"She is dangerous," he insisted. "Look at her eyes. They go through you, they say such wicked things. I am afraid for my job and for my family."

Child is Star Witness,

Little Rose Chevela, 11, who lives across the road from the woman and who is the state's star witness against the woman, said:

"Maybe when she gets out of jail she will kill me." The child's brown eyes were wide with terror. "I've always been scared of her. She has such evil eyes."

"They are persecuting me," Mrs. Veres said in her native Hungarian language through an interpreter "The neighbors are jealous because they think I have money."

City Officials Would Like County To Speed Up Bridge Repairs

Repairs to the East Washington street bridge which spans the Neshannock creek are not progressing as rapidly as city officials desire, according to conversations in the municipal building today.

Traffic is detoured from the bridge. City authorities would like, they indicated today that county authorities instruct the contractors to place employes at work during the day and night.

Will Waterproof East Washington Street Bridge

Neglect Of Contractor Who Built Bridge Forces Present Repairs

While repairs are being made to the East Washington street bridge by the county, the entire upper part or back of the bridge will be waterproofed to keep it from disintegrating.

This was supposed to have been done when the bridge was constructed, but was neglected by the contractor. As a result, cracks have appeared in the lower portion of the bridge, allowing the water and earth to seep through the cracks.

There was grave danger of water getting into these cracks and freezing, causing the whole structure to be seriously damaged.

The bridge will be rebuilt wherever needed, County Engineer Gilkey stated this morning, and will be as good as new when completed. The bridge has been in use now for over twenty years, and during the past few years had begun to deteriorate.

WIDOW AND THREE CHILDREN MISSING; POLICE MYSTIFIED

by Pierson, who showed a letter, supposedly from Mrs. Eicher, authorizing him to dispose of her property. "Mrs. Eicher has gone to Colorado for a vacation," Pierson said. "I'm going to marry her. The children have been sent to Europe."

Officers Find Letters.

Officers found 50 letters written by Pierson to Mrs. Eicher. They revealed he obtained her name from a matrimonial bureau of Fairmont, W. Va. Pierson in them described himself as a wealthy engineer and after corresponding from January 19 to June 17 arrived here on June 22, apparently with Mrs. Eicher's consent to marry her.

Neighbors related that he appeared here last June 22 and lived at the Eicher home a week. Mrs. Eicher left a day after he did with a few pieces of luggage without telling her friends her plans. The children remained until Pierson returned for them.

Fairmont, W. Va., police informed Park Ridge officials they could not find the Eichers here although a playmate of Greta Eicher received a letter postmarked there.

Park Ridge authorities believe Pierson corresponded with the widow with the intention of obtaining her property valued at about $20,000. They planned to dig in the Eicher yard today to see if any bodies were buried.

Pick Up Clues.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Detectives struck a hot trail today in their search for "Cornelius Pierson," wanted in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Ada Eicher and her three children from their suburban Chicago home, when they learned that Pierson had called at the postoffice last night for mail.

Chief of Police C. A. Duckworth revealed this information to International News Service today. Pierson, whose identity is shrouded in mystery locally, has maintained a box at the postoffice for three months, Duckworth said.

Officers on Trail.

Immediately upon learning of Pierson's nocturnal call at the postoffice, Duckworth routed all members of the detective force from bed in an effort to pick up the man's trail.

Chief Duckworth and Prosecuting Attorney Will E. Morris said they had no inkling of the man's identity. Duckworth said he had learned, however, that the license plates used on Pierson's machine, a small coupe, had been stolen recently from another Clarksburg resident.

After a flight up the Hudson to the top of Manhattan, the flying boat returned to land in the harbor at 12:31 p. m., opposite the Statue of Liberty.

She brought her fifty odd tons down into the water with hardly a splash. It marked the ending of a ten-months cruise which started in Switzerland and carried the boat to four continents.

The passengers and crew were taken off in launches to be greeted officially by the mayor's reception committee.

Resinol heals him quickly

"When my baby was a few weeks old eczema broke out on his body. I tried various treatments but none of them seemed to give him any relief. He only grew worse and cried all the time. I was almost frantic. A friend of Mother's suggested Resinol Ointment. I got a jar and in about a week's time the improvement was amazing."

LEGION AUXILIARY AT SPEED'S COTTAGE

What could be a more beautiful background for a corn roast than a brilliant moon shining over the Slippery Rock Creek about Kennedy's Mills. This was the setting Wednesday evening for the assembling of about 60 members of the American Legion Auxiliary, their husbands and families, at the G. H. Speed cottage. In addition to the light of the moon there were two large bonfires and many lanterns hung about the grounds in front of the cottage where a long table was spread, centered with beautiful gladioli in a salmon shade and smaller bouquets of summer flowers were used at either end.

The early part of the evening was spent in a social manner and after the large brass kettle of water got to boiling, there were dozens of ears of corn put in and when the cooking time had elapsed each person was handed long wire fork and the corn was fished out and weiners roasted over the glowing embers and by the time the committee had the coffee and accessories on the tables every one was ready to enjoy a most elaborate corn roast menu.

At a late hour the automobiles started back for the city and as each one left they congratulated the committee: Mrs. G. H. Speed, Mrs. William Reynolds, Mrs. Jesse Boak and Mrs. C. C. Horner, for the perfection with which their arrangements had been carried out.

DEPENDABLE CLASS HAS CORN ROAST

The members of the Dependable class of the Croton avenue Methodist church were hosts Tuesday evening to their wives and friends at a corn and wiener roast at the home of R. C. Gormley on the Harlansburg road. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Thompson acted in the capacity of chaperons for the younger members.

The early part of the evening was spent in games and stunts, and after a period of this the 35 present gathered about a huge bonfire and here a regular "song fest" took place, with special numbers by the male quartet and the ladies trio, after which a repast of corn and wieners and all the accessories was enjoyed.

As the group departed for their homes each one voted it the most successful event of its kind they had ever attended and gave the credit to Clarence Reiber, Arthur Anderson and Russell Gormley for the success of the affair.

Ten Ivory Club

OFFUTT EMPLOYES ENJOY OUTING

The annual frolic and outing of the employes of the W. J. Offutt Company was held Wednesday afternoon and evening at the Cole-Duff cottage on the Slippery Rock at Rose Point, when all assembled for a general good time.

The weather man was not in such good humor Wednesday afternoon, so the sports committee was curtailed in its previously planned program. However, a great many donned bathing suits and had a dip in the creek, while others rowed up and down the stream until all were called to dinner, which was served in the cottage at long tables with a profusion of garden flowers adding to the festivity of the event. A delicious picnic menu was served and ample justice was done to the well prepared viands.

The spaciousness of the cottage was turned to good advantage after the dinner table was cleared, and dancing and cards proved the main diversions of the evening hours.

The committee to whom credit for the success of this year's event is due included Pearl Lukens, Mrs. Thomas McCurdy, Katherine Winter, Mrs. Katherine Perdue, on the menu, and Katherine McGrath, Lillian Lash, Lulu Johnson and Leila Lewis on the program.

BUSINESS WOMEN MEET AT COTTAGE

Last evening for the first time, the New Castle Business and Professional Women's club met in the "Rae Muirhead" cottage at Lakewood.

It was an occasion of keen enjoyment and each of the nearly 50 members in attendance were proud of the delightful cottage so generously presented to the club by one of the members, Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry of New Wilmington. Dr. McLaughry made the gift in memory of Mrs. Rae Muirhead, who took a profound and active interest in organizations for business girls.

The cottage, located on a hillside overlooking the beautiful lake, was presented to the club last June newly painted with taxes and insurance paid. The executive board of the club organized a camp committee to decide what repairs and equipment were needed to put the cottage in shape for use by the members.

During the past three or four weeks this committee has been working diligently, overlooking the repair work, cleaning the building, furnishing it, preparing the grounds, etc., and by the appearance of the cottage last evening the committee made a wonderful job of it.

Each piece of furniture, the dishes, rugs, everything in the cottage with the exception of six single cots was donated to the club in memory of Mrs. Muirhead by members, public spirited merchants and citizens.

Hearing of the cottage, many local people called Dr. Mildred Rogers of the board of camp trustees, asking to give tables, chairs, settees and other badly needed items for the camp. Dishes, silverware, tea towels, pots and pans, thermos bottles, electric hot plates came the same way.

And last night the club members looked it over, and were very proud of their cottage and very pleased. Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry was among those present.

Hostess of the evening was Miss Bess Gailey. Mrs. Sara Sankey McCune, president of the club, and joint hostess, was unable to be present because of illness.

Chairs were arranged on the spacious porch and a dainty luncheon was served at about 8 o'clock. Several special guests were present.

Shortly after lunch Dr. Mildred Rogers gave a few remarks about the various donations and read a list of a few things still needed. Different members spoke up and promised to furnish the needed items. The membership was told that the cottage is their's to use and that they may make reservations through Miss Helen Hinkson, chairman of the camp committee. At least one B. P. W. member must be present with each group or party using the cottage at any time.

The women took their leave shortly after 9 o'clock. It had been the first meeting of the club since last June.

NO PRIVATE OWNERSHIP OF AIR

THE old theory about the ownership of the air being vested in the person who owned the property beneath it receives another jolt in the recommendations of the committee of the American Bar Association, which has prepared a code on aviation traffic to be presented at the annual meeting in Atlantic City next month. The new rules propose to dedicate the "navigable air space" to the public right of navigation.

The committee goes farther and says that the claim to a private proprietorship of the atmosphere was a legal untruth. There could have been no official pronouncement on the subject prior to the use of aircraft. Subsequent to the development of aviation only two decisions, one by the Massachusetts Supreme Court and one by a Federal District court, can be cited with any bearing on the matter; and both deny the supposed common law belief that a man owned the air over his property up to the stratosphere and beyond.

Most of us have by this time become reconciled to the loss of our proprietary rights in the ether. We had never exercised them very much, any way, and many lived a whole lifetime without ever inspecting this property in the third dimension. Now we are told we could not lose the rights because we never owned them. Neither did our ancestors, though they died in the peaceful delusion that their title was unquestioned. Doubtless the legal experts know what they are talking about, but this retroactive decision does seem like a form of grave robbery. The radio and the airplane preempted the empyrean and have left Communism in possession.

TOM THUMB POT SHOTS

No president has escaped caustic criticism during the closing months of his administration, but a few have been more unfortunate than the rest in this respect, due to circumstances over which they had no control rather than through any failure of their own. To this company belong Washington, Lincoln, Johnson, Cleveland and Wilson. And, if one reads aright the handwriting on the wall, President Hoover is about to join the illustrious group.

Tom Thumb politicians are already taking pot shots at the president under the urge of the noble motive of making themselves look like presidential timber. There seems to be a belief among those who are outside trying to get in that they must cut down the presidential tree of the man in the white house before their own tree can be seen by a discerning electorate.

If the pea-shooting is a sample of what can be expected in the future, the pee-wee politicos will soon be holding the president responsible for the grasshopper invasion, two-bit wheat, the frogs and rains that stopped the Lindberghs, the heat and droughts of the summer, the bumper crops, the bear markets, the Chinese war and the German collapse.

The president of the United States is not without honor except when he is likely to be a candidate for re-election.

NYE HAS A SCHEME

At last the American people understand the clamant politicians of the wide open spaces. When they demand that something be done for the agricultural West, the people know that the demagogues want that something done for the politicians, not for the farmers.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, Insurgent Republican, wants the government to take some "positive step." As if the $500,000,000 farm-relief appropriation and creation of the farm board were negative steps.

His pet "positive step" is government price-fixing for cotton, wheat, dairy products, beef, potatoes, pork and wool. A beautiful nostrum! Let Washington fix the price at $2 a bushel and wheat that cannot be sold today for 25 cents will go like hot cakes.

If Senator Nye would solve this riddle, he must begin at the other end. Surpluses, not prices, have swamped the farmer. When he can dispose of his surplus crops prices will rise of their own accord.

High prices guaranteed by government fiat would aggravate the crisis brought about by mounting farm surpluses. Growers, who refused to reduce their acreage in the face of low prices, could hardly be expected to cut an output with a high price on its head.

Another important detail the North Dakotan overlooks is the fact that price-fixing would encourage secret price-cutting as long as surpluses exist.

THE DRIFT TO THE CITIES

The drift of the population from the country to the cities, first noted in the census of 1920, has continued to increase, even to a greater extent than was indicated by the earlier figures made public last year. The analysis now completed by the Census Bureau shows an urban population of 68,954,000, or 56.2 per cent of the total, as compared with 51.4 ten years ago. In 1910 the urban population was only 45.8. The Census Bureau's definition of urbanites is persons living in places of 2500 or more inhabitants.

While millions thus classified cannot be regarded as city dwellers, other millions residing in suburbs of fewer than 2500, and therefore classed as ruralites, are employed in cities and may be considered in that sense residents of metropolitan communities. Final figures on the strictly farm population are still to be issued, but the Department of Agriculture estimates that it has suffered a decrease of about 4,000,000 since 1920, when it was 31,000,000. As for the population officially called urban, it would have been larger still except for the migration from the big cities to the suburbs.

No development revealed by the 1930 census contains more significant implications, social, political and otherwise, than the increase in the urban element. As late as 1880 two-thirds of our people lived on farms or in communities of 2500 or under and only twelve per cent in cities of over 100,000. The gradual conversion of a rural population into a nation of city dwellers has brought and will still bring many changes affecting our national habits, customs, living conditions and laws.

All Of Us

Children Pick on Me
Poke Me in the Eye, Wear Me Out
But I Like It

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I've heard that you can't fool a child. The instant a child looks at an adult, that infant knows all about the grown-up he's looking at. I can't see how a baby that's so irresponsible that he will stick beans up his nose and try to eat ant poison with his bread can know so much. But that's what I've heard, and it may be true.

And, if it IS true, I'd like to know what babes in arms, crawling infants and all other children up to the age of six, are really thinking about when they look at me. My own private idea is that they think I'm a punching bag.

Many a time I've bent innocently over a baby carriage and wished I hadn't. All I did was look at a cute little baby—and what did that baby do? He started at me solemnly for five seconds, then his face fractured into a gurgle, and he reached out a fat, moist thumb and stuck it into my eye. I swear I didn't do a thing. I didn't grin, I didn't wink, I didn't say a word—but I got a thumb in my eye just the same.

I'm prey for all of them. The word must have been passed around that I'm an easy mark and will stand for anything. Little boys look me over and suddenly make flying tackles at my knees. Perhaps it's my ears. I don't see how it can be my gray hair, but it might be. Sometimes they try to tear it out by the roots. They call me funny names like Mr. Gee-Gee or Mr. Goo-Goo. They want to wrestle. They want to fight. They want to play tag. They tickle and they giggle and they say 'do it again." They keep it up for hours. I get all worn out. I want to quit and I can't. They won't let me. They keep it up. And sooner or later somebody gets hurt. And who is it that gets hurt? It's me that gets hurt. I get that thumb in my eye. I get my hair all mussed up. I perspire and I get a twisted finger or a skinned knee. It's lots of fun.

I don't know why it is that I can't impress them with my dignity, with the fact that I'm grown up and out of school and married, with children of my own, and that I've been to war, and that I've been earning my living for years and years. They pay no attention to all that nonsense, but dive right in and start the battle.

And do I mind it?. . . I confess with poorly concealed vanity that I do not. I like it. Somehow it flatters me. I've reached the point where I expect it, and when the babies stop doing it my feelings will be hurt—and I'll know that I'm an old, old gentleman who's no use at all.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

COULD NOT FOOL THE PORTER.

The late William H. Taft, who was at the time of his death ex-President, ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, ex-Secretary of War and in fact "ex" so many things else that his "ex" titles would read like the titles of an English king, was delivering a lecture in Portland once upon a time. During the lecture Taft's friend, Bishop Keator, entered the auditorium. Taft could not resist the opportunity of telling a good story on the Bishop and with his customary chuckle he immediately told it.

It seemed that once upon the Bishop's travels he was resting comfortably in his Pullman seat. The porter stopped before him and scrutinizing him very carefully, said:

"'Scue me, Senator, anythin' ah kin do fo' yo', suh?" The Bishop replied in the negative.

The porter however returned soon, and asked, "shall ah open de window, Guvner?" The response was once more, "no thanks."

A third excursion he ventured, "'scuse me, Kuhnel, kain't ah brush yo' off?"

The Bishop looked up. "Listen, porter," he said, "I'm not a Senator, or a Governor, or a Colonel; nothing but a poor common Episcopal Bishop."

"Yassah, Bish'p," replied the darky, "but ah jes' don' knewed yo' wuz one o' dem face cawds."

Just Folks

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

"Throughout the years that we've been wed,
With all their stormy weather,
And all their fits of doubt and dread,
Somehow we've kept together.
Somehow, my dear, in spite of care
And hurts that came to smart us,
And little wrongs which seemed unfair
We've never let them part us.

"Oh, we've had days of storm and stress,
And we've had griefs that tried us;
But sorrow never made love less,
Or threatened to divide us.
Somehow in spite of all I've done
And said when irritated,
We've managed to keep going on
Like sweethearts, newly mated.

"We've had our share of ups and downs,
And tasks to irk and fret us,
Our foolishness brought frequent frowns,
Our blunders grave upset us,
But since the tie that binds oft snaps
For others just as plucky,
And we've escaped disaster, p'raps
My dear, we've just been lucky."

A SONG OF LONG AGO

My wife and I lived all alone,
In a little house we called our own;
She loved gin and I loved rum—
I tell you what we'd lots of fun.

Chorus—
Ha, ha, ha, you and me,
Little Brown Jug, don't I love thee;
Ha, ha, ha, you and me;
Little Brown Jug, don't I love thee;

'Tis you who makes friends my foes.
'Tis you who makes me wear old clothes;
Here you are so near my nose,
So tip her up and down she goes.

A man came into The News office and wanted an item put in the paper free, which was a glaring ad for his concern. He said that his company did not do any newspaper advertising, but their agents did the advertising when canvassing. We told him the agents should also do the advertising he wanted done for nothing. He said he wanted the item in the paper so the people would know what they wanted them to know. Too many people think that way and try to play the newspapers for suckers.

MR. RUTTER COMES BACK

Aug. 26th, 1931

Mr. Fred Rentz,
The News Co.
City.
Dear Mr. Rentz:-

So my friends in New Wilmington are getting more sociable, they also seem to be getting more ambitious and speedy. I not that their letter is dated the same day my last letter was published in The News, to obtain a list of the Old Timers, search it thoroughly for my name, write her lengthy letter and have it delivered to The News in time to be published the next day after mine, is going some. She should be careful of her health, and not overdo herself.

As she insinuates that I may be a foreigner or using a fictious name, kindly tell her that I am not. I was born in New Castle in 1892, and have lived here ever since, and my parents lived here many years before that, my father remembers visiting your parents, Mr. Rentz many years ago, possibly before you were born, and the wonderful gardens your mother had, he has told me about these things many times.

Why bring Mr. Hunters statements up to me? I have a personal invitation to swim in the New Wilmington pool and I don't want to be barred like him. But since you insist: If Hunters predictions come true I'll move to New Wilmington. The Bible tells those of us who read it that - -

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. Gen. 2:27.

I don't see why many christian people see so much that is shocking and obscene in the "Image of God".

As to the swimming pool in my back yard, that would be fine. I wouldn't have to go far to swim. I have heard far less indecent language around numerous pools I visit than I do every day on the city streets.

I am sure these old ladies have not heard or seen anything so terribly objectionable around the New Wilmington pool for I know that my good friend "Jack" would not permit it.

And once again, Mr. Rentz, tell these people that a swimming pool is not a place for the public to take a bath, I said so in my first letter but they don't seem to understand.

Very truly yours
CLARK H. RUTTER

Debate On Cotton Problem Reveals No Clear Solution

Definite Reduction In Output Believed To Offer Many Obstacles, While Increased Demand Through Sales Campaign Is Considered

National discussion of the cotton crop problems reveals no remedy for conditions which is likely to win general support. The Farm Board suggestion to destroy one-third of the growing crop has been rejected for various reasons. Diversification is upheld in some comments as a future policy, while attempts to enforce any policy are held to be legally impossible.

"Having failed to procure anything like a uniform reduction or acreage, how could the Farm Board expect to bring about a uniform destruction of crops?" asks the ATLANTA JOURNAL. Suggesting that "the only possible method of crop control in these United States is the passage of a 20th Amendment giving the Department of Agriculture absolute control over all agriculture," the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM satirically advises that "if it is necessary to change the present democratic form of government, it would be better to construct a lease treaty with Italy for the use of Mussolini for a couple of presidential terms."

"The only thing to do," thinks the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS, "is to harvest the crop as cheaply as possible, put it into bonded warehouses, where such disposition is possible, and determine now and finally that next year's acreage will be cut one-half, the rest of the place being planted to food and feed crops for man and a lot more livestock than usual on Southern farms." The News refers to the fact that "much of the crop is mortgaged," and asks "how a third of the collateral crop is to be released, when the loans extend out to millions interested in the banking institution."

As the laws requiring acreage reduction in the interest of "soil conservation," the CHATTANOOGA NEWS states: "Whether it will work is, of course, a serious question. Will juries of cotton farmers find their neighbors guilty of misdemeanor, and fine them for planting cotton?" The News, however, concludes that "the very passage of the law would sharply call attention to the magnitude of the cotton-planting crop, and might, in this way, have a very general and beneficial effect." The News believes that "the South's real task is to shift the energy and attention of cotton farmers, both owners and tenants, from cotton to other types of livelihood."

"Such a welter of impossible schemes was never before let loose in so short a time," declares the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST, advising that "there is no way in which any law for control of cotton planting throughout the area of cultivation can be made enforceable. * * * * "There are just two things that Congress should do to deal with the cotton situation. It should abolish the Farm Board utterly, and it should put the store of cotton that board has purchased in the hands of a receiver under rigid instructions to dispose of it in equal annual portions over a period of, say five years. The law of supply and demand would do the rest, not without hardship, perhaps, but effectively. All else is sound and fury."

Denying that there is any way of "forcing acreage reduction," the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL contends that "unless all growers enter into the reduction program, the few who do will take undue punishment without benefit to anyone." The TEXARKANA GAZETTE argues: "Whenever acreage reduction is proposed, most farmers plant more cotton, with the hope that other farmers will plant less. The same thing would happen, should a serious effort be made to destroy a third of the growing crop." The COLUMBIA STATE asserts: "There is inequality in the plan. For example, some cotton, with a staple of five-eighths of an inch, and growing on stalks from 10 to 14 inches high, is of small value. But by this plan of distribution, it would, row for row, count with the best inch-and-a-quarter staple."

Considering the wider field of foreign commerce, the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS offers the analysis: "The South raises more cotton than the United States can consume. It does that every year. A considerable part of the crop must be exported. And then we place a wall about the country that prevents buyers of our cotton from paying us in goods. And so they simply buy their cotton elsewhere. It was estimated when the Hawley-Smoot bill was signed by President Hoover, over the protest of every economist of note in this country, that it would increase the cost of living in this country by a billion dollars. To that must now be added a cost of nearly a half a billion to the already improverished cotton farmers of the Southern States."

Quoting the PHILADELPHIA RECORD'S suggestion of the equalization fee for the cotton crop, the CHARLOTTE NEWS believes that this "would raise the prices of cotton and of cotton cloth to Northern consumers, but it would save the South from bankruptcy so that it could buy the manufactured products of the North." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS voices the opinion: "Agriculture prospers in countries, Denmark, for example, where cooperation is most systematic and most efficient. One may even guess that the federal farm board's recent advice to cotton growers was intended rather to plow under their non-co-operative spirit than actually to set them to destroying every third row in their cotton fields."

The need of diversification is emphasized by the PASADENA STAR-NEWS, and the CHATTANOOGA TIMES. The ABILENE REPORTER states: "We have a fine cotton crop out here, the first really good one in years. Next year the crop might not be so good. Why not gather the crop already made and hold part of it for next year's market?" The HOUSTON CHRONICLE advocates as "a fair proposition" that "the Farm Board hold its cotton, not for a year, but fora stipulated price, on condition that the co-operatives hold their cotton on hand for that price, in consideration of which the farmers would hold one-third of their present crop for that price, the Farm Board to advance to the farmers enough to gather that one-third and to relieve necessities with respect to existing incumbrances on the one-third of the current crop to be held by the farmers." The DALLAS JOURNAL suggests measures "to hold this year's surplus and to induce the farmers to plant no cotton in 1932."

The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER indorses the proposal of George Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, that "through aggressive merchandising, including a scientifically planned and conducted national advertising campaign, backed up by more intensive technical and commercial research than anything heretofore undertaken by the cotton industry," demand be increased effectively and permanently. The ANNISTON STAR is convinced that chambers of commerce in the South should aid in increasing the use of cotton materials, "in addition to withholding millions of bales from the market." The DANBURY EVENING NEWS believes that "if someone would do for cotton what someone has done for hat felt and ostrich plumes, the cotton-growing South and cotton-manufacturing New England would both be raised several rungs on prosperity's ladder.

The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL holds up the history of tobacco curtailment as a warning to cotton growers, and advises diversification.

GIVE MOTHER A REST!

In many homes the appetites and the tastes of the family are such that the mother has little opportunity to cook what she may like particularly well herself.

She seldom prepares a dish just for herself.

She consults the wishes of the majority in her chosen menus.

Very often husbands are dictatorial in their food demands.

If they are not prepared they become angry or indicate displeasure.

Rather than have an uncomfortable situation the mother keeps on, day after day, month in and month out, cooking to please her family, not herself.

Very often she longs for things to eat that she must deny herself.

If she ordered to satisfy her own taste as well as the family whims the grocery bill might be too large or there would be unpleasant comment.

Some husbands object when a wife suggests eating in restaurants.

They say that the cooking and material is not up to the standard.

Considering that the wife has been years studying his taste and favorite ways of cooking perhaps the meals would not be so good for him, perhaps.

But how about giving Mother a rest?

Despondent Philadelphia Woman Attempts Suicide

Mrs. Grace Norris Mason, Estranged From Husband Swallows Potion Of Poison

Young Bride Goes Before Magistrate And Benefactor Takes Her To Sanitarium

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27,—Heartbroken over a quarrel with her husband which resulted in their estrangement, Mrs. Grace Norris Mason, 23-year old socially prominent Philadelphia, was arraigned before Magistrate Edward P. Carney today following a suicide attempt.

"What's the use of living when you're in love and can't have the one you love?" The pretty society girl asked the flabbergasted magistrate.

Puzzled by the girl's question and fearful that she would again attempt to commit suicide by drinking poison, Carney decided to hold her for a further hearing until someone agreed to guarantee her future safekeeping.

The decision caused a distinguished appearing spectator to step up and assert he wished to remain incognito but would see the girl was placed in a sanitarium until she recovered from her despondency. After a brief talk the magistrate placed the girl in the stranger's custody.

Father Owns Hospital

Acquaintances of Mrs. Mason revealed that she had married Edward Mason, formerly of California, now in Chicago, two years ago and that they had separated some time ago. Her father, Dr. Richard C. Norris, conducts a maternity hospital here. He is a member of an old Philadelphia family and both he and his daughter are listed on the social register. Mrs. Mason was a debutante of only three years ago.

The policeman who brought her into the magistrate's office said he had been called to her father's hospital after the girl had been found unconscious of poison. He took her to Hahnemann hospital where she sobbed out a story of unrequitted love for her estranged husband and begged the bluecoat to let her die.

Ragweed Is A Cause Of Hay Fever

Destroy Weed And Fall Type Of Ill Will Be Relieved

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

August 15 to 20 is the time the goldenrod begins to bloom and many a person in our fair land rises and begins to wonder along then whether that sneeze was accidental or whether it really is here again.

It is when the eyes have it that they know the worst. Sneezing and itching eyes and running noses is their fate for about six weeks or two months. They are lucky if they do not have asthma also.

As in the case of rose fever, the flowers get the blame, but they do not deserve it. Contrary to much belief on the subject, goldenrod does not cause hay fever, except possibly in rare instances.

The plants which cause any of the forms of hay fever—spring, summer and fall types—are those which fertilize each other by scattering their pollen on the air. They do not have conspicuous flowers like the plants which attract insects, including the goldenrod, and fertilize each other by the insect scraping the pollen off one plant on its legs and then flying to another plant and depositing the pollen there. The pollen of flowering which are fertilized by insects is heavy and gummy so that it will stick to the insect's body and legs and cannot be blown about easily on the air.

The plants which fertilize by wind pollenation, on the other hand, have light, fine pollen. This is cast into the air in enormous quantities, although the particles are so fine they cannot be seen except as fine dust. Filling the air as they do, they light on the eyes easily or are sucked into the nose of the hay fever victim and set up the irritation to which he is subject.

The plant most often responsible for hay fever of the late summer or fall type is ragweed. It is a tall, hardy plant with ragged, torn leaves from which it gets its name and a sheaf of inconspicuous flower pods at the top. It grows very abundantly in most parts of the United States. The desert regions grow a relative, sage, which can also cause hay fever in susceptible persons.

North of the Great Lakes and in the mountains and along the seashore the plant does not grow, and these are the favorite resorts for the hay feverite. But even in the upper Great Lakes region, when the wind is from the south and the day is warm, the patient with hay fever feels a little suggestion of how bad it would be for him to be at home. This phenomenon which I have seen many times shows how far the pollen will travel under favorable atmospheric conditions.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

West New Castle, sometimes called Mulleintown, has quite a long existence. In 1839, Major E. Sankey commenced the erection of the first building of any importance in that district. It was a large one-story frame building, with wooden pillars in front, and stood on the west side of Front street. On the occasion of the great Whig mass meeting held in this district during the presidential campaign of 1840, the speakers addressed the people from the portico of this building, which was not quite finished at that time. When it was finished, Major Sankey occupied it as a family dwelling for eighteen years.

Cynical Newspapermen Fire Questions Freely At New Relief Chief

Character Study Of Walter Gifford Shows Him In Sharp Contrast To Colonel Woods, His Predecessor

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Would it be correct to say that the real function of the president's organization on unemployment relief—that's the new name of it—is to stimulate other folk to contribute?

"Well, er—ah, I don't quite like that way of expressing it," answered the organization's chairman, Walter S. Gifford.

He furnished no explicit substitute for it, however.

Mr. Gifford, when I saw him, was back but a few hours from a week-end of solid talk with President Hoover, at the latter's summer camp on the Rapidan, concerning the unemployment situation and what to do about it during the winter.

He had consented to receive the correspondents and some 50 of them instantly walked in on him in a body from an ante-room, where they had been waiting. Reporters do not hunt in such large flocks in New York, with which the telephone magnate is more familiar than with the capital, and the delegation's size evidently rather flabbergasted him.

These mass attacks have their advantages from the chroniclers' standpoint. A business potentate of Mr. Gifford's magnitude can overawe a lone newspaper man, but nobody is sacred to half a hundred of them collectively.

To put it mildly, this crowd was pretty cynical. Most of them recalled a similar interview slightly less than a year ago with Colonel Arthur Woods, the A. T. & T. president's unemployment predecessor, and maybe had a clearer idea than Mr. Gifford himself what that particular job's incumbent is up against.

The phone man rallied, nevertheless, and defended his position with considerable ability.

"We are not fighting theories; we don't want any argument," he said, when pressed too closely, and he said it not crossly, but crisply, in a way to end discussion.

He has the decisive executive manner.

Colonel Woods frankly recognized that he was groping.

If Mr. Gifford is aware that he confronts the intangible, he plainly does not propose to admit it.

Illustratively, when someone asked, "Will as much money be required to see the unemployed through the coming winter as was needed last season?" his prompt reply was, "At least I hope that not more will be required".

"And how much was needed last winter?"

"Why, that I don't know yet," was the rejoinder.

* * *

The new relief co-ordinator—administrator is not the word for his post, for he will have nothing to administer—is in sharp contrast to his predecessor, certainly in appearance and apparently in temperament.

The colonel was tall, dark, aquiline and athletic looking.

The A. T. & T. chief is shortish, plump, blond and a typical office man. He is 15 years younger than the colonel, but baldness is creeping on him apace. Although he is amiable and smiling, he has the glint of authority in his blue eyes. The colonel was perhaps less superficially affable, but also less peremptory than Mr. Gifford can be when occasion arises.

There is no doubt that Colonel Woods saw unemployment as a human problem when he assumed President Hoover's relief chairmanship last summer and wanted the funds with which to solve it in the shortest order possible.

Chairman Gifford accepts the method—though he doesn't like that way of expressing it—of stimulating others to raise the money.

It remains to be seen whether he will find it any more practicable than the colonel did.

Possibly he has his own doubts.

Anyway, when he was asked, "Suppose private charity proves inadequate and the cities' resources are exhausted and the counties can do no more and the states' treasuries are empty, then what?"

Instead of denying that this may happen, he answered: "It will be time enough to cross that bridge when we come to it."

Colonel Woods thought the bridge ought to be provided for before the country actually arrived at it in midwinter.

Killing Is Laid To Gang Warfare

Link Canton Slaying With Pittsburgh-Cleveland Vice Traffic

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Rivalry between two gangs of racket men operating the rum and women traffic between Cleveland and Pittsburgh came to light yesterday as police investigated the death of Joe Cotelli, Canton gangster, whose murder in a wood near Canton was the first killing to interrupt the smooth working of the inter-city vice machine.

With a rope around his neck and his head battered in, Cotelli was found in a thicket on the outskirts of Canton Tuesday night.

By a late hour yesterday police had traced his murder to the strife between the two vice gangs that for years have carried on a steady and lucrative trade transporting rum between Pittsburgh and Cleveland, and women to vice centers of Akron, Canton, Massillon and other Ohio cities.

Somebody has slipped the "vs" in between Governor Roosevelt and Tammany.—The Savannah Morning News.

Blame Boy For Burning Of Barn

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Fire, which was started by a 13-year-old boy who had been burning spider webs, destroyed a barn and chicken coop on the farm of Justice of the Peace Aaron Koon, Fredonia road, at 10 a. m. today. The loss was $1,000, none of which is covered by insurance.

Jack Koon, the aged Hempfield township justice's grandson, was using matches to destroy the webs in the barn when he saw one side of the structure ablaze. The flames quickly spread to a recently filled haymow.

Gardner Community Picnic Much Enjoyed

The Gardner community picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Walker, of Forest avenue. Long tables graced the lawn, and the committee provided comfortable seats for all. Rev. H. G. Woodrow asked the blessing, and the waiters began serving the choice food which looked so tempting.

After supper there was a pleasant social time.

A play was presented called "The Last Day of School". Frank M. Hay, was the teacher, and maintained a demeanor of great dignity and poise, in spite of the unruly pupils whose actions and remarks were very mirth-provoking and caused much laughter.

These little girls play very well for all the time they have given to the work and Mr. Kennedy's playing was a beautiful rendering of the Mocking Bird, and was greeted by a spontaneous burst of applause.

After the school was dismissed and the desks were removed and the piano was taken into the living room, the majority of the crowd went home but a number stayed and Mrs. Kennedy played the piano while Mr. Kennedy played the violin.

FIVE ARE DEAD IN TWO HOUR RIOT AT MICHIGAN PRISON

alleged "ring leader" in the riot plot which was believed to have been started to cover the escape of the quartet.

Frank Hohfer, sentenced to serve 35 to 50 years in prison on a Detroit kidnaping charge.

Martin Duver, Chicago bandit, given a life term on a habitual criminal charge after the holdup of a Detroit grocery.

Charles Rosbury, serving 20 to 40 years for robbery armed.

Convicts Armed

All four convicts were armed with revolvers and many rounds of amunition. An armored car, occupied by uniformed men who represented themselves as Detroit police here to return the four convicts to the metropolis for grand jury questioning, was reported outside the prison walls when the shooting started. It disappeared.

Presence of the armored car strengthened the belief of Warden P. Corgan that the shooting was part of an elaborate escape plot. The prisoners, Corgan believed, had intended to start a riot and then probably escape when it was at its height.

The convicts appeared at the prison hospital adjoining the main penitentiary cellblock. They complained that they were ill.

Doctor is Killed.

Dr. Hornbogen, on duty, started to examine the prisoners. Without warning, Germano and his companions drew revolvers and started to fire. The doctor crumpled to the floor and died almost instantly.

Bolger and Allieslager, the trusties, ran to the physician's aid. They attempted to fight the killers with their fists. Both were shot and fell writhing to the floor. Cowling, the guard, started to shoot but also was wounded.

Germano and his two conspirators, still firing, ran from the hospital, across the prison yard and into an old factory building now used as a dormitory. There they barricaded themselves.

Two Hour Siege.

State police from the post adjoining the prison, Marquette City police and prison guards began a siege which lasted for two hours. Several hundred rounds of ammunition were poured into the convicts' shelter.

Machine guns failed to dislodge the murderers. Tear gas bombs were finally thrown into the barricade. Blinded and fearing capture, the desperadoes put revolvers to their heads, fired and killed themselves. Within a few minutes, order was restored.

Maintain Guard In Colon, Panama Result Of Riots

Dr. Arnulfo Arias, Shot And Wounded By Judge Ramon Amestica

RIOTING FOLLOWS GRUDGE SHOOTING

(International News Service)

COLON, Panama, Aug. 27.—Fearing resumption of the rioting which broke out in this city yesterday following the shooting of Dr. Arnulfo Arias by Judge Ramon Amestica, police and troops stood on guard at all strategic points today.

The shooting grew out of political rivalry between Francisco Arias Paredes and Harmodio Arias, minister of Panama to the United States, candidates for the presidency of Panama. The latter is president of Accion Comunal, the organization which overthrew the government of President Arosemena.

Dr. Arias, who is the brother of Harmodio Arias, was shot in front of the municipal palace after a meeting of Accion Communal, his assailant, Amestica being a city judge. Dr. Arias was wounded twice, once in the neck and again in the abdomen.

He was expected to recover.

Seek Racketeer In Strange Case Of Missing Jap

Alleged Racketeer Who Posed As Justice Department Agent, Hunted

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—An alleged racketeer, who posed as a department of justice agent, was sought today in an effort to solve the disappearance of Mishashi Fujimura, Japanese silk millionaire. The importer vanished from the liner Belgenland almost two weeks ago.

The racketeer, known to police as James Collins, was said to have been a friend of Fujimura. He was arrested at Norwalk, Conn., charged with stealing a $5000 motorboat of Louis Cartier, New York broker and released August 17 under a suspended sentence. When arrested police said he had a number of blank federal warrants.

LYNCH IS FREED AFTER BEING HELD HOSTAGE FOR WEEK

found a sign post indicating I was just north of Kankakee, Ill. I turned around and headed for Chicago, but I got so drowsy I couldn't drive any longer. Finally, I went to the home of a friend and asked him to take me home."

He declined to give the friend's name.

Lynch told how "awfully glad" he was to be back home and safe from the murder threat the kidnapers constantly held over him in the event ransom was not forthcoming.

"For five days," he related, "I didn't know where I was. When they forced me to get out of my car and enter their machine last Thursday my glasses were knocked off. I was driven for many hours. Finally I was deposited in a room."

Wears Blindfold

During his captivity, Lynch explained, he was forced to wear a blindfold constantly.

"Not a soul talked to me," the gambler continued, "with the exception of a man who informed me that my meals were waiting for me. I was never beaten or intimidated."

Lynch said he believed there were four men in the abduction gang. He said he was given to understand they wanted $1,000,000 for his release.

"Did you have a million dollars?" he was asked.

"No, they found that out, and that's probably the reason why they let me go."

Tells of Kidnaping

In telling of the actual kidnaping the turfman said he was traveling toward his Lake Geneva home a week ago when a car drove up alongside, swerved across the path of his car and forced him to stop. Two men jumped out of the machine and dragged him from his auto, knocking off his glasses. Another man came up behind Lynch and put on a blindfold.

"Keep quiet," one of the abductors warned. "We're not going to hurt you."

Then, Lynch related, they started to drive and nothing more was said.

Hunt For Capone

In spite of Lynch's insistence that Capone was not involved, Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney John Swanson, today continued his search for the gang czar.

Capone was in a peculiar position. Responding to entreaties of Lynch's friends, he pledged his entire gangland power to obtain the turfman's release. Then Roche threw water on his "good samaritan" act, declared "there has been a double cross somewhere," and ordered the arrest of the gangster chief for questioning.

Authorities last night swooped down on Capone's southside headquarters in the Lexington hotel. Only to find their quarry had stepped out. Search of other Capone "spots" were also unavailing.

It had been understood that Capone engineered a deal whereby $50,000 — instead of $250,000 — had been paid for Lynch's freedom. This $50,000, according to underworld reports was to be supplied by Marty Guilfoyle, big time gambler and friend of Lynch.

Capone was said to have telephoned Mrs. Lynch yesterday and assured her the sportsman would be returned safely during the night or today.

Elks Stage Big Parade Today In Harrisburg, Pa.

Gigantic Parade Is Closing Gesture Of State Silver Jubilee Convention

PRIZES OFFERED TO BEST MARCHERS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27—With all interest centering on the mammoth parade, in which between 4000 and 5000 persons were expected to participate, sessions of the silver jubilee convention of the Pennsylvania Elks Association today drew to a close.

The parade was the biggest, and about the only, activity slated for the final day of the convention. At a short session preceding the march, officers of the organization who were elected Tuesday were installed in office and announcement was made that the state ritualistic championship plaque had been awarded to the Washington lodge. That lodge, in a competiton with the Apollo ritualistic team, won the contest by a slight margin and the victory gave it permanent possession of the trophy.

Memorial Services

The parade was expected to get under way about 2 p. m., and officials of the association estimated it would be two hours before the monster procession has passed the reviewing stand where state officials and officers of the state association will view it.

Prizes have been posted for the lodge having the most marchers in line. For the lodge making the best appearance, and for the best band and best drum and bugle corps. All through the forenoon today marching units continued to pour into town to take part in the procession this afteruoon.

At the closing routine business session, memorial service were held for the late George Kambach, of Pittsburgh and the late Peter Wade, of Bristol.

REPORT FORTY PERSONS KILLED

(International News Service)

LISBON, Portugal, (By Telephone to Madrid) Aug. 27—An official communique issued here shortly after 2 p. m. today (9 a. m. E. D. T.) stated that the revolt against the dictatorship of General Carmona had been quelled and that the situation was in hand.

Casualties were officially placed at forty dead and 300 wounded. Five hundreds of rebels were arrested.

Rumors that a "truce" had been effected between the government and rebel leaders were flatly denied. Troops are scouring the city with orders to shoot on sight anyone seen bearing arms.

While the communique declared no disorders occurred outside of Lisbon and that no renewal of the insurrection was expected, rebel sources here declared that the revolt would be launched anew when the opportunity was ripe.

Feeding Chickens Cost Him $600 Auto

(International News Service)

LONGMONT, Colo., Aug. 27.—Henry Schneider of Fort Collins, Colo., has sued Norman C. Crane of Edgewater his brother-in-law, for $600, the price of a new automobile, plus $100 damages, all because Norman had to feed his chickens at four o'clock on a Saturday afternoon.

The two brothers-in-law visited a Denver amusement park on the Saturday afternoon in question. Schneider bought the tickets. With each ticket was a chance on a new $600 automobile. At four o'clock Crane had to return to his home to feed his chickens.

Crane borrowed the two tickets from Schneider so he could get back into the park when he returned.

One of the tickets Crane borrowed carried the lucky number. Crane returned to the park just in time for the drawing and claimed the car.

Crane took out a temporary license for the car he had won. Schneider brought suit to recover the car, which he claims is his, as he owned the ticket.

Education By Movies Tried At Washington

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—"An outstanding success was the way Washington University summer school officials described a recent experiment of instruction of University classes by motion pictures.

It was the University's first experiment with "canned professors," and the project attracted wide attention.

Each performer on the silver screen was an outstanding educator and received an introduction by some member of the summer school faculty.

A lecture on child psychology can easily be illustrated by pictures of children in characteristic behavior, or courses in science can be supplemented by pictures of scientific projects in Industrial plants, the directors pointed out.

WON 7 STRAIGHTS AT GOLF

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn. — Bobby Grant, playing as a member of the Wethersfield country club, won seven straight one-day tournaments in golf in New England in early August. He went into his eighth tournament and went down before R. E. Elm, Sequin Country Club, West Hartford, who was playing his first tournament.

Your Money Can Earn 30 Per Cent Interest

The Story is This:—

Mrs. A. buys an article for $75.00 on "installments" payable monthly, because it is so "easy" to pay that way, having a year to pay for it.

Mrs. B. prefers to pay cash and instead of buying now opens an account at the DOLLAR SAVINGS ASSOCIATION, paying $1.50 per week for 50 weeks and gets 5% interest on her money, equalling $1.57.

She then takes her check which she gets at the end of the 50 weeks and makes her purchase, and because she pays cash she gets a discount of $7.50.

This saving plus the interest on her savings nets her over 30% interest.

Result—Thrifty Mrs. B. has $9.07 extra to spend while Mrs. A. has none.

Thrifty folks save their money with us and get 5% interest on their money.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Pupil Gains In Character By Sacrifice

Poor College Student Who Is Success Wins Our Esteem

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Most who enter or return to college this autumn are being sent. Perhaps a very few of them will be interested in what I have to say; nevertheless, most of their parents will be keenly interested.

For most of these students, going to college is just the thing to do. They go in about the same matter-of-fact way they went to bed when they were only three years old. The wherewithal has been provided. Their tuition is paid as also is supplied the money for their books and clothes, traveling, incidentals and luxuries. They have little or no concern about how the money is to be supplied, so long as it is enough to meet their many wants.

For the parents of many college students the provision of money is no hardship; for some such a matter is a mere trifle. But there is also a large number of parents who pay their son's and daughter's way through college at a terrific sacrifice, even without that son or daughter knowing about the degree of sacrifice. For such children there inevitably is a loss in character through this ignorance. Among the greatest tragedies are those in which children sent to college at a great price to their parents fritter away their time and even degenerate into worthless citizens at college, to be social nuisances when they will have been "sent home" or "graduated".

On the other hand, those college students who at home had learned to make self-sacrifices for their family and with their family, and who in college are aware of the sacrifices which their family have made for them, are fairly sure to make good and to be an honor to themselves to their family and home community.

You and I have a great esteem for that college student who, not having had the training which a very limited family purse may give, proves a successful student at college, and who acquires there wholesome attitudes and habits of work preparing himself to be a useful citizen.

Well we know it is hard for the student to make good at college who had not home habits of independence, hard work and responsibility. No matter what the economic status of his home, he cannot do nearly his best unless he had learned the secret of self-abnegation. Just how much limitation by circumstances and by self-effort is essential to best character development we do not know; but one thing seems certain: character growth is hardly possible without some training in these directions. Best self-denials rarely or never come by accident They grow out of wise denials by parents in the child's early years.

Parents of infants now are building foundations of the success or failure of these children in the years to come. The crib is the best place to prepare for college.

Service Frat Will Plan Winter Work

Phalanx Y. M. C. A. Sessions To Commence In Week; Election Date Up

Selection of a date for its annual fall election of officers will be one of a number of matters that will occupy the members of the city's Phalanx fraternity chapter at their first weekly meeting in the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening, September 2.

There will be other discussion centering upon business left unattended during the inactive vacation months.

The Phalanx, the primary purpose of which is service, will reorganize itself generally into a more energetic working unit, concentrating its major effort on the Neighborhood House boys' educational program which it has promoted since 1928. Other community service work will be considered.

TRANSPLANTING PEONIES

September is a good time to transplant peonies. These perennials are ready for transplanting as soon as cooler weather arrives. At this time the fleshy roots are through growing and the fibrous root growth is about to begin, the specialists of the Bureau of Plant Industry say.

First cut back the foliage, leaving two or three inches of stem above the root growth. Dig entirely around the roots with a spade, taking care not to cut the roots. Lift up the root clump and shake or dig out the dirt.

Be careful to avoid injuring the tender "eyes" or buds near the top of the root clumps.

Peony roots are usually divided when transplanted. Cut the root bunch into divisions so that each division has three to five eyes and some of the large fleshy roots. Cut back the old leaf stems so that there is two inches of stem above the highest eye.

The roots are now ready for transplanting. Place them in rich soil where peonies have not been grown for several years. A handful of bone meal with each root will help. Set the root with the eyes pointing upward. The two-inch piece of old stem on top of the roots is your gauge for planting depth. Plant it so that the top of this cut off stem is just at the surface of the ground.

As soon as you have planted your peonies, water them thoroughly. If the soil heaves much during the winter, it is a good plan to cover the plants with a straw or cornstalk mulch as soon as the ground has frozen hard.

Vigorous peonies are best maintained by transplanting them every three to five years.

Organizations Plan For Winter

Mercer County Charitable Organizations Are Laying Aside Food

MERCER, Aug. 27.—Every charitable organization of any size in Mercer county is making ready for winter.

Canned fruit and vegetables are being put up in quantity by all of them that the cost of feeding the unemployed may be cut down to the lowest minimum.

Many of them acknowledge that they will be unable to secure funds on the same scale as last winter. The plan of canning now will prolong their activity they point out.

Fruit and vegetables were never as cheap in county history providing a favorable opportunity for this work. All crops are record breaking. Old timers say there never has been anything like it.

MANY CASES LISTED

The motion and petition court of September 8th will be a De Luxe session the records show. Thirteen cases are listed for argument in the common pleas court alone. The fact that there is no argument court in August had doubled the work of this session.

PLAN JUDGING CONTESTS

Boy and girl judging contests of cattle have been arranged at the two county fairs. At Mercer the event is September 2nd in the morning; at Stoneboro Labor Day in the morning has been selected.

The contests will be in charge of Agent Harold Waha. From these groups are selected the teams that represent the county in state contests.

The gold medal colt contests are held at this same time at both fairs.

SHARK ATTACKS SECOND BATHER

HAVANA, Aug. 27.—For the second time within a week a shark has attacked a bather off the rocky coast of Miramar, a sub-division of an exclusive residential section of Havana, resulting in the death of Pablo Medina, 23, who died in a hospital after being badly mutilated yesterday. Laureano Rodriguez lost his right leg after being bitten by a shark last Sunday.

Interest Shown In Roosevelt's Plan Of Relief

Capital Watching Eagerly For Plan Governor Roosevelt Will Likely Adopt

POLITICIANS ARE QUITE ALERT

New York State Legislature At Special Session Call Will Hear Program

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—There is keen interest in the Capital in the unemployment relief program that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has announced he will present to the special session of the New York legislature in a few days.

Gov. Roosevelt is considered the foremost candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. By many politicians he is regarded as President Hoover's most likely opponent next year.

Thus the spectacle will be presented to the country of the two likely contestants for the presidency in 1932 dealing with a grave problem that undoubtedly will play an important part in the campaign. That problem is unemployment and the collateral economic issues that enter into it.

Hoover Program Ready

President Hoover has already announced his program for dealing with the emergency.

It consists, as thus far revealed, in simply mobilization of local resources, under governmental direction. He has appointed Walter S. Gifford, successful executive of the country's greatest utility organization, to direct a national drive for funds to provide jobs for the jobless and relieve distress during the coming winter. What is contemplated is a national drive comparable to the annual Red Cross roll-calls or the Liberty Loan drives during the war period.

If Mr. Hoover has any other plans in the making for meeting the winter crisis they are yet to be revealed. He has taken a firm stand against anything remotely approaching "the dole" or dipping into the Federal Treasury for direct aids to the needy.

Roosevelt Opposes Dole

Gov. Roosevelt, too, has taken a position in opposition to the dole. But he has indicated that he plans to go considerably farther than Mr. Hoover in bringing the legislature into the picture.

Advices reaching Washington from Albany indicate that Gov. Roosevelt intends to call upon the legislature for emergency action to meet the crisis this winter. Whether this will take the form of a special tax on wealth or a direct appropriation, is yet to be revealed, but friends of the Governor here appear confident that he will oppose remedies considerably more advanced than anything the National Government has yet proposed. Mr. Hoover has thus far opposed any direct appropriation to meet the situation, insisting that private charity and relief agencies can take care of it.

Special Session Demands

During the past few weeks the White House has been fairly inundated with demands that congress be called into special session to deal with the economic problems of the coming winter. To all these demands President Hoover has turned a deaf ear. The White House reply to all inquiries is that Mr. Hoover will not call a special session under any circumstances. He will deal with the matter in his own way when congress regularly assembles on December 7.

Under these circumstances it is not strange that the politicians in the capital are awaiting with interest to see what Gov. Roosevelt will propose to the special session of his legislature. In a sense, the proposals of Roosevelt and the Hoover program will set up the interesting parallel that politicians always like to have as a gauge for the political weather ahead.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

To the Editor, New Castle News:

It is with great pleasure, that we announce the arrival of Rev. Mrs. S. E. Guthrie, and daughter Miss Virginia on a visit to the former's father, Sir Knight Daniel John. Dr. Luke, the superintendent, and Mr. John met them at Coatesville and escorted them to our home, where we were all looking forward to her presence.

She conducted a special service, Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, for our own pleasure and honor, which was of the highest order and gave us much food for thought. The messages were wonderful and displayed the real talent and power that Rev. Guthrie has for this work. They were a revelation to many, who had not heard anything like that before. There was a nice audience, the members of which enjoyed it to the limit.

On Thursday evening, Rev. Guthrie held a seance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy, which proved beyond a doubt, her ability as a Spiritual medium to demonstrate the phenomena, and show a fact which was recognized by all.

We were all sorry to see her depart, as she made a great impression on the members and others, and hope that she will return soon, for another visit. We thank Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy for the kind use of their home for this demonstration and also the Home Management, for the use of the parlors. We all wish Rev. Guthrie, health, happiness and success, in all her undertakings.

"That's a lie. I'd have married her just the same whoever had left it to her."

"Have you ever driven a car?" the lady applicant for a license was asked.

"One hundred and twenty thousand miles," put in her husband, "and never had her hand on the wheel."

A Philadelphia man called up a bird store the other day and said:

"Send me 30,000 cockroaches at once."

"What in heaven's name do you want with 30,000 cockroaches?"

"Well, replied the householder, "I am moving today and my lease says I must leave the premises here in exactly the same condition in which I found them."

then ask yourself:

Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?

Wouldn't it be a thrill to start out on that Labor Day drive with a new set of handsome, safe, trouble-free Goodyears on your wheels?

Wouldn't it be a comfort to know you are going into the fall and winter motoring season with the best tire equipment on your car that money can buy?

Of course it would! Why don't you do it? You can afford it—with prices as low as these listed here, mileage is selling cheaper now than ever before.

When you buy Goodyears—whether the famous All-Weather Tread or the popular sturdy Pathfinder—you're buying the first-choice tires of the world.

If you have any doubt about this, just remember that for 16 years it has been a fact that "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Again, a great and unbiased public institution recently completed a nation-wide survey, asking American car owners "What tire is best?"

The vote, uninfluenced in any way, shows a preference for Goodyears nearly 2¼ times that for the second tire, and five times the average preference for all other makes.

It takes a great tire—an outstanding tire—to win public approval in this decisive fashion; it takes the kind of a tire you would like to own.

You can have that tire, at no extra price, if you'll guide your buying with the simple question: "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

FOG IN LATE SUMMER AND EARLY AUTUMN

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Fog is always produced when the under side of a layer of moist air along the earth is cooled below its dew point. The moisture cannot come out as dew or frost, so condenses on tiny dust particles and other particles in the air, as fog. The fogs of late summer and early autumn are produced differently from fogs of other seasons. During the day the temperature rises and thus considerable evaporation takes place, but the nights are growing longer so that the time of cooling by radiation is lengthened. During the night the air moisture reaches the dew point, coming out as fog. When the sun rises fog begins to evaporate and may all vanish by noon.

It is said that dogs do not bark in their wild state, and that the bark is a development of domestication.

Local Youth At Fombell "Y" Camp Pens News Letter

From Clifford Pollock, New Castle college youth filling a counsellorship at Camp Kon-o-Kwee, Pittsburgh "Y" camp at Fombell, Pa., comes a letter of interest concerning his rare experiences of the past few weeks.

or several days Pollock ate, slept and lived entirely with nine foreign youths, representatives of as many different foreign countries who retired to that secluded spot to study the American summer camp plan. Of the visitors' stay he writes to friends:

At World Meetings

Gathered in Toronto, Can., and Cleveland the last of July and first of August was one of the greatest assemblies of Y. M. C. A. men ever to be held. It was emblematic of Christian brotherhood and of the furthering of peace. At the close of the conference the men of the various nations departed, some back to their native soil, others to various Y. M. C. A. camps here to learn their ways and habits.

Camp Kon-o-Kwee was very fortunate in getting nine of these men, representing India, Norway, France, England, Scotland, Egypt, Australia, Japan and Germany. One might even term it a miniature League of Nations.'

Some of these men have stayed until today (August 20), the last three representing England, France and India being scheduled to leave for New York within a few days.

Unforgetable Days

To have these men around and to be able to converse with them was an experience we at Kon-o-Kwee will never forget. In India at the present time Mahatma Ghandi is preparing for the coming arms conference at London, which occurs in September and our friend from India told us that his country is very optimistic.

This is but an idea of the valuable and interesting information we could learn from our foreign campers. They pictured for us the modern conditions in their countries and gave us a first hand account of life in general among their homefolk.

I was fortunate to obtain the autographs and addresses of all of them, hoping to carry on correspondence with them later on. It is an experience and a memorable vacation never to be forgotten. While it comprised but a short period in our camp life this summer it was by far the most interesting.

Annually during the camp period at Kon-o-Kwee the boys stage their own "Olympics" in the final stages of the summer. The entire camp of boys is divided into four groups and each group selects for itself the name of some country, and for that country they do fight!

The four countries this year are Norway, Egypt, India and Scotland. Athletic events are tennis, baseball, basketball, volley ball, swimming, track and field, water polo and mushball. The competitive events continue until the close of camp, at which time the "country" that has amassed the most points is declared the winner.

Camp at Kon-o-Kwee, Pollock's letter said, closes on Friday. Nearly 1,000 boys have enjoyed its privileges this year.

Lutheran Society Visits Zelienople Home On Wednesday

Missionary Society Presents Program At Old Folk's Home; Inspect New Wing

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—In spite of undesirable weather about 40 members of the Womens Missionary Society, including their families, of the Trinity Lutheran church motored to the Old Folk's Home at Zelienople Wednesday evening and presented an interesting program. Mrs. Herman Fleischer was in charge.

The program included a word of greeting by Mrs. George Garland, president of the society; two selections by the mixed double quartet, accompanied by Miss Gladys Blank. Then Mrs. Charles Ross rendered an interesting reading for the approval of those present. The next event on the program was a selection by the Lutheran church choir which was followed by another reading by Mrs. Ross. The choir then rendered another selection and was accompanied by Mrs. George Atkins. The pastor of the church, Rev. C. F. Christiansen gave an interesting address which was followed by a hymn with all present participating. A vote of thanks was given by Rev. Richter and another hymn was sung. The benediction rendered by Rev. Christiansen concluded the program.

The remainder of the evening was enjoyed with visiting with the old folks and inspecting the new wing, just recently added to the home. All present considered the evening a fine success.

Football Candidates Work Out In Rain

Coach Robert Ingle Conducts Three Hour Practice Session In Mud And Rain

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Threatening skies apparently did not mar the ambitions of the Ellwood high football candidates as a larger turnout than the previous day answered Coach Ingle's call yesterday. Further reason was presented yesterday afternoon for the coach to be jubilant, for most of the varsity members of last year were out and eager to be in uniform. Although Charley Frisk, star half back, Sam Shardone, a guard, and Tony Condi, a back have yet to appear.

The boys showed their determination Wednesday afternoon as they went through their routine in the mud and rain on Lincoln field, under the direction of Coach Ingle. The program yesterday consisted of two laps around the field, a period of calisthentics, blocking, tackling, and clipping, dodging, dummy scrimmage, passing and kicking. All are scheduled to report again this afternoon, 2 o'clock at the field.

Many Machines Are Stranded Wednesday

Wet Muddy Inclines To Local Boy Scout Camp Cause Hazardous Traveling

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—After a nice crowd had arrived at the Boy Scout camp for its dedication services and the community picnic, a drenching rain prevented the development of any further plans. Those that had drove into the clearing found it very difficult to get out again. It proved very hard to get out with chains.

The rain had done its work on the soft ground and the ascending of any hill turned out to be quite a task. The wheels could not grip anything. It was only through the aid of the boy scouts that all cars had finally left the place. They represented the towing crew yesterday afternoon.

Nelson Runyan nearly lost his car and endangered his life when it skidded to one side of the road and nearly went over the steep incline.

Fine Crowd At Show Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—A splendid turnout witnessed Wurtemburg's third boxing show last night, held near first bridge. An interesting program of boxing and wrestling had been arranged by those in charge. The program included 8 boxing bouts and one wrestling match.

The seed that Wiley Hill had sown has seemed to grow rapidly. Not long after the fight shows in the former place had been announced, Wurtemburg set up an arena to rival it. If the attendance and interest keeps up at the present rate we will have the two sections vieing for battlers.

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Steinbach of Marion township, Beaver county, announce the marriage of their daughter, Leah Grace, to William John Morrow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrow, 717 First avenue, Ellwood City, which occurred Thursday, August 20, at noon in the manse of the Presbyterian church at Mercer, with Rev. Claude S. Conley officiating, using the single ring ceremony.

They were attended by Miss Eleanor Hartman of New Brighton and Ernest King of New Castle. The bride was attractive in shadow printed chiffon over pink crepe, her accessories being in white. Miss Hartman was attired in white crepe with a jade green jacket and white accessories.

A wedding dinner in the Hotel Humes supplemented the ceremony.

Mrs. Morrow is a graduate of Zelienople high school, class of '28, and the groom attended Ellwood City high school and is now employed by the Matthew Conveyor company of Ellwood.

A motor trip to New York City, visiting at Warren and DuBois, the national Allegheny and Cook's forests, stopping at "Lone Star" camp near Siegel for a few days, will mark their honeymoon trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow will be at home after September 1 in their newly furnished apartment on Line avenue, Ellwood City.

The election of officers was the feature of the missionary society's business meeting with the following results: president, Mrs. James Kirker: vice president, Mrs. Emmet Graham: secretary, Mrs. Sandy Towler: assistant secretary, Mrs. Logan Winet: treasurer, Mrs. John Smith.

Community Picnic Event Postponed

Rain Causes Abandment Of Plans For Scout Camp Dedication And Picnic Event

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Just when all plans were completed for a grand time at Ellwood City's first community picnic in a long time the weather man decided to put things in a muddle and succeeded well. The picnic was scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and so did the rain.

The boy scouts had worked the whole morning, all in vain, to prepare the camp for the huge celebration. After quite a number turned out for the affair they were forced to leave or get soaked. After a period of rain the roads proved to be nearly inaccessable and motorists had an interesting time in getting out.

The Scouter's committee will hold a meeting this afternoon to discuss the possibilities of holding the picnic at a future date. The meeting will be held in the National hall.

TURNED BUILDINGS DARK.

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Waterproofing material applied to the walls of the great Memorial Quadrangle group at Yale, at a cost of $15,000 is being removed. The solution caused the granite blocks of which the quadrangle is built to turn so dark that it was feared the structures would become a deep black.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Paris is smart. Paris is full of ineffable old-world charm. Come to Paris and be robbed, instantly and with the well-known French eclat. Come to Paris and enjoy hotels where the desk clerks administer the special, low raspberries reserved for American tourists; where the service is so execrable it attains a sort of grandeur; where you can gaze upon chic French ladies strolling in the Bois with bare, unshaven legs and year-before-last hats. Come to Paris and revel in a contempt for you that hangs in the air like a haze. Come to Paris and be a sucker. I did.

CRAVING FOR PUNISHMENT

Why I keep returning to this town is a matter for the alienists. Of course, no city has so much whooping-up in the public prints of the world. And undoubtedly Paris has its points, if you don't mind being told where to get off by waiters and desk clerks before you've said so much as a word to cause the outbursts; if you don't mind being overcharged at every juncture, sneered at and brow-beaten, because you are an American.

BUTCHER BLAMES THE LAMB

They tell me this is all because of the mad behavior of certain American Babbitts, who have come over here to make spectacles of themselves in public places. I don't believe that is the whole reason—or even half of it. At the Cafe de la Paix this morning there was a tremendous rumpus and a stream of French invective was turned on a waiter. He had mistaken a native Frenchman for an American and served him accordingly. The several hundred Americans in the crowd were keeping quiet. They were taking their medicine like little men.

My hotel is one of the few in town where it is possible to get clean, modern plumbing and some of the amenities of civilized living which mundane western tastes demand. It is supposed to be very "smart"—whatever that word means. And I hereby testify that the inmates of any good American house of detention are treated with more courtesy and civility than Americans sojourning here.

These are common experiences in Paris hotels, but I set them down because they occurred in one of the newest, most expensive and supposedly most fashionable in the city.

AMERICANS' PARADISE

At 5 o'clock in the morning after our arrival my friend was awakened and called downstairs to fill in the registration card demanded of visitors, although he had been told that my signature was sufficient when he entered.

For two whole days our room was not cleaned. This was because we slept late in the morning and the femme de chambre couldn't be bothered.

Whenever either of us approaches the desk, a magisterial personage in wing collar and swallow tails, presumably the manager, replies to queries with the manner of a prison warden talking to a refractory occupant of the condemned cell block.

He never smiles. He uses curt monosyllables. He flies into a fury if we so much as check up on a bill. We are Americans, and the guillotine is hungry.

This afternoon I called and told the powers at the desk that we were going to check out tomorrow. Ten minutes later the phone rang. The manager needed our room by five this evening, since we were not going to stay past tomorrow, and we must get out. We could have a smaller room, without a bath, for the same price, tonight. There was not even an apology.

The Folies Bergere would last, I am positive, no longer than two weeks on the New York stage. In addition to containing all the ancient devices of third-rate burlesque troupes, the costumes on the ladies of the ensemble apparently were laundered for the opening night but not since. Moreover, many Americans have been disappointed to find that the Folies this year is, for the most part, a fully-clothed and chaste revue. Half a dozen New York musicals of the past six months were more undressed.

GRAIN OF CONSOLATION

Yet I must confess to a thrill over Montmartre which never fails. That maze of crooked streets, flaming with her gas signs all night long, offers little gayety but a rather thrilling form of hysteria. A long avenue as crowded and bustling at half-past three in the morning as the average thoroughfare is at the same hour of the afternoon contains a sort of madness, a fine denial of work-a-day actualities, which makes the blood pump slightly faster.

Montparnasse, the supposed new night life sector, seems tame, still, in comparison with Montmartre. Montparnasse is full of long hair and intellectuality and "smartness". Montmartre is vulgar and vital. Although there is no denying that depression has hit both neighborhoods during the past few months. Even bars can fail.

Water Battle Team From Here To Meet At Firemen's Fete

Fire Department Ready For Annual Convention Of Northern Association

With all arrangements completed for a trip to Conneaut Lake park New Castle firemen who will play a leading part in the proceedings are awaiting the first annual convention of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Firemen's association, to be held at the lake Saturday and Sunday.

The New Castle fire department will be represented by many members of the fire stations who will compete in the many activities, including the water battle, one of the big attractions. A team of local firemen is listed to compete with firemen from other cities in the district.

Firemen from seven counties—Lawrence, Mercer, Erie, Crawford Venango, Forest and Warren—will gather at Conneaut. President Fred Carman of Meadville and his committes have completed all arrangements for the two-day program, in which firemen, their families and friends will take part.

Uphold Award In Man's Death

Court Holds Compensation Award Of $6,000 Is Not Excessive

BEAVER, Aug. 27.—An award of $6,012.68 was not thought excessive for the death of a husband and father, according to an opinion handed down by Judge Frank E. Reader here in an appeal from an adjustment of the workmen's compensation board by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation. It was further held that the man, Walter Sokalski, late of Ambridge, came to his death from heat exhaustion occasioned by his work in the hot mill of that plant in Aliquippa.

Sokalski, the evidence discloses, complained at work on the day he died and later while walking more than a mile to his home stopped to rest. He reached home about four o'clock in the afternoon and died at 10:30 o'clock that night.

YOUTH IS KILLED IN FALL FROM TREE

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Andrew Stiner, 14, died yesterday from internal injuries received when he fell from an apple tree as the limb upon which he and two companions were sitting broke off. He plunged 15 feet to the ground. The trio had been picking apples when the accident occurred. The others were not hurt. The lad was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stiner of Juniata.

No New Wells In Grove City Field

Drilling Operations For Gas In Grove City Territory Have Been Futile

GROVE CITY, Aug. 27.—Since the strike of the big gasser on the farm of John Smith in the early summer drilling operations in the Wolf creek field have not been productive.

The well was drilled in by a company of six Waynesburg operators who have since been pioneering the field without results. It is said that with Fall drilling operations are likely to be more active. Gas wells are productive of more returns in money during the Fall and Winter seasons which it is believed will stimulate drilling.

Within the last year two wells with a flow of half a million feet a day have been drilled in. The field has been the scene of active operations for over 50 years and for its size has produced more gas than any other in western Pennsylvania.

PLAN MEETING.

A meeting of the Grove City Commercial club is carded for September 14th. The vacation month of August for the club will mean that the September meeting will be fraught with issues of a special local character.

President John V. Wherry is urging that there be a 100 percent attendance.

CLUB PLANS CLOSING.

Activities at the Grove City Country club officially close on Labor Day. The date is always one of celebration at the club. This year will prove no exception.

A corn roast in the evening with something of a special nature for the children is being planned.

During the day golf will be the attraction of the adults coupled with the best fishing in 20 years and a bathing beach that has just been revamped.

PROPOSE UNIFORM DRESS FOR GIRLS

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 27.—As an economy measure resulting from the prolonged depression, girls of Johnstown Catholic high school may adopt a uniform dress for the coming term, the Rev. Thomas T. Cawley announced yesterday. A survey will be taken during the first week of school and if the "everybody-dress-alike" plan is approved it will be adopted immediately.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Feminine Bandit In Capital Gets $30 In Hold Up

Bureau Of Internal Revenue Clerk Held Up By Freckle Faced Girl Bandit

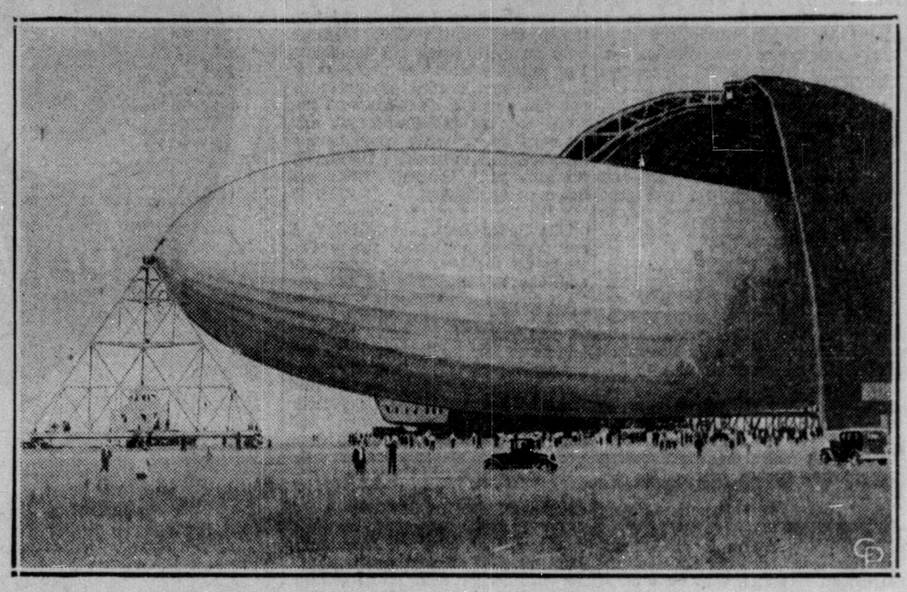
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A well-dressed, freckled-faced girl today heldup at pistol point Lyle Boucher, bureau of internal revenue clerk, when he was entering his apartment house and demanded his wallet.

"Don't you dare to make an outcry," she said as sternly as she could with her weak voice, and, still holding the pistol, walked to an automobile parked nearby and drove off.

The wallet contained $30.

GREAT DIRIGIBLE AKRON NOSED OUT OF HANGAR FIRST TIME WEDNESDAY



Poking her nose inquisitively out of the doors of her dock, at Akron, O., the navy's new dirigible, the $2,500,000 U. S. S. Akron, is walked a third of the way out into the open. It gave the ground crew practice in handling the giant airship, before her first trial flight.

AKRON, O., Aug. 27.—If the naval airship, Akron, world's mightiest air whale, could have expressed herself, she doubtless would have called a cheery "hello, everybody" Wednesday, as naval and Goodyear-Zeppelin officials and a ground crew of 250 backed and nosed the Zeppelin half way out of her hangar at the Akron municipal airport, in her first introduction to the outdoors.

The test was declared to have been entirely satisfactory and now the ship awaited further test programs.

The crew waited anxiously for the Akron's first stride from her home.

Handlers were clinging to "spiders," lines from sides of the ship, and standing ready at side launching cars on tracks, at the taxi wheel at the rear and the portable mooring mast at the front.

"Already, forward," boomed the megaphone of Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wiley, executive officer of the ship. "Aye, aye, sir," came the answer.

"Stand by to walk out," shouted Wiley.

An instant later, he gave the order, "Walk out."

The heavy orange peel-shaped doors at the northeast end of the hangar swung open and the helium-inflated Akron backed out on the first lap of the two-mile "walkout" test outlined for her.

Emerging in the open, the Akron stopped as Lieut. Wiley dropped the dark green flag he carried and blew two shrill blasts on a whistle. Here the ship was photographed taking her first peep at the great outdoors.

Stretch Spider Web

Orders then sent the ship through the hangar to protrude nose first for the same distance as she was backed out. Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosenthal, her skipper, mounted the mooring mast, moving along with the ship. The tripod mast moves under its own power on caterpillar tractor wheels.

"Spiders" are lines fastened to metal loops which are attached to handling lines extending from the ship. About 25 "spiders," attached to one loop, presenting the appearance of a web when stretched out.

Watching the maneuvers closely was Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer of the Akron and known as one of the world's greatest airship planners. Although the public was excluded, several thousand persons saw what they could from near-by points and airport highway traffic was heavy.

Files Petition To Force Alderman To Accept Bail

Mother Charges Daughter Held In Jail Because Of Bond Refusal

In a petition filed today with Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell, Mary Rubino, of East Reynolds street, mother of Helen Rubino and Rose Mary Rubino, asks that Alderman Richard R. Lewis be required to accept bond in the case of her daughter Rose Mary Rubino who is being held in the county jail because Lewis refuses to accept bond.

The petition sets out that the two girls named were arrested for disorderly conduct and that at a hearing before Lewis on August 24, 1931, they were convicted and held for the juvenile court. A fine of $10.00 and costs was assessed.

Mrs. Rubino offered bail for the girls and Helen Rubino was released upon bail. It is charged that Alderman Lewis refused bail for the release of Rose Mary Rubino and that this is being done to coerce the payment of the fine. It is further set out that the bondsman in the case is possessed of $5000 worth of property, is willing to put up proper bond, but that Lewis has refused to accept it. The petition asks that the court order the alderman to accept the bond.

ALL BUT FORTY OF KEARNY'S MEN WERE RIDING MULES. AS THE DRAGOONS CHARGED, THE HOT FIRE OF THE MEXICANS STAMPEDED THE MULES, WHICH BEGAN MILLING ABOUT IN AN UNMANAGEABLE MASS.

WHILE THE AMERICANS WERE TRYING DESPERATELY TO CONTROL THEIR FRIGHTENED STEEDS AND REFORM THEIR LINE, A FORCE OF MEXICAN CAVALRY, 75 STRONG AND ARMED WITH 9-FOOT LANCES, BORE DOWN UPON THEM. ——o

THE SHOCK OF THE ENEMY'S CHARGE THREW THE DRAGOONS INTO GREATER DISORDER. SOME DISMOUNTED AND FOUGHT BRAVELY ON FOOT, BUT MANY WERE KILLED OR WOUNDED BY THE LONG LANCES OF THE FOE.

Bill Donnelli vs. Homer Gray, six rounds; knockout.

Jackie McGann vs. Jackie Powers, six rounds; decision.

Johnny Banko vs. Young Terry, four rounds; knockout.

Clyde Merriner vs. Merle Gibson, four rounds; knockout.

Eddie Eldridge vs. Ray Ritchie, four rounds; knockout.

Marshall Couette vs. Al Gruver, four rounds; decision.

There is decidely keen rivalry between Donnelli and Gray. They have gone four rounds twice and now they're docketed for six chapters and they realize the fans want the question of supremacy settled.

Gray is the best boxer. Donelli is not scienced but is a slugger. Gray believes he will flash a k. o. when Donnelli lunges in wide-open. Donnelli believes his aggressiveness and harder punching will win.

They're Predicting K. O.

Last night Gray cavorted at the Park gym. "What do you believe you will do Monday night?" he was asked, to which he replied: "I'll box him silly then hit him on the chin and go home and sleep."

When this line o' chatter was told Willyum he smiled: "I'll go after him so fast he will burn the soles off his shoes trying to get away," said Donnelli. "I can't get nowhere if I can't defeat Homer."

Of course these boys may be spoofing a word or two but it is known p-o-s-i-t-i-v-e-l-y that they want to settle their fuss. They want to fight someone else and know they cannot until one or the other is put in cold storage.

Their quarrel is quite peculiar. Gray claims that Donnelli backed away in the last scrap and Donnelli accuses Gray of having done the backward glide. If they live up to their predictions the fans are going to see another wow fight.

Their embroglio isn't the only tidbit on the card; not by a couple of bouts. Another which ranks with it as "Even Stephen" or ahead, despite the fact that the fighters are not so well known is the Jackie McGann-Powers fight.

Since McGann joined the Jimmy Dunn stable he has defeated Mickie Farr three times. Mickie, it will be recalled is the lad who fought either Mozdy or Donato here. He made a good showing so McGann must have something to show.

Battle Looks Fast

Jackie Powers is a tried and found true warrior. He has been aged in the ring and knows his stuff. Not so long ago he fought the good Frankie Bauman of Paterson, dropped the decision, but it was a good fight, Cleveland reports.

They are no bigger than elementary schoolboys but their hearts are as stout as oak trees. The Jimmy Dunn tutored fighter will weigh 114 and Powers will tip the beams at 112. They're docketed for a sextette of rounds.

Johnny Banko will take on Young Terry. Banko hasn't fought in several months. Terry beat Vito Mangine recently. If Terry can stop Banko's right hand he will be to the merry. If not he may be laid linoleum style.

Charles Gruver, manager of Terry believes that Banko is made to order for Terry who will give away three pounds weight. "Terry likes to have boys rush him. Mangine did and see what happened. Terry was there, upright at the bell."

Banko Back Again

Banko will have to be nursed during the first round of two until he feels his way. He hasn't fought for so long that Signor Latera, the big tall boy from the North Hill will let him take no chances. Chances are good for a k. o. however.

The first one to land a solid whack on the chin will win the Clyde Merriner-Merle Gibson fight. Gibson is awkward but he can hit fairly good. Merriner is no slouch. Gibson is jabbing good and hopes to close one of Merriner's optics. They're middleweights.

Ray Ritchie believes he can turn the tables on Eddie Eldridge who put him away a week ago Monday. "I blew up without being hit. I don't know what happened except that I lost all my steam and couldn't get my breath," he declared.

"He lost his breath because he was socked in the breadbasket," laughed Eldridge when his manager and he discussed the fight. On form Eldrige is due to lose but if Ritchie isn't in tiptop form he will be beaten.

Two Hot Rivals

The scrap between Marshall Couette and Al Gruver should be as good as either of the bouts in the double windups. Marshall is accredited with having beaten Gruver by a close margin so they're going to settle things here.

Some of the boxers are training in Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron and the balance of them are romping in New Castle gymnasiums. The scraps carded have awakened lively interest in sporting circles in this vicinity.

GOLF for GIRLS

by GLENNA COLLETT

Women's National Golf Champion
Written for Central Press and The New Castle News
Number 20

It was a red-letter day for me when I discovered that the speed of the clubhead is not regulated by the speed of the hands and wrists in rushing the club up and back and down and forward.

Glenna Collett

I soon found that I had learned something very important to my game when I discovered this truth.

The punch does depend largely on the speed of the clubhead as it slashes into the ball, but this is not obtained by the rush of the hands back and the rush of the clubhead forward.

The golf swing, you see, is the application of centrifugal force, which means power from the inside out. Clubhead power comes largely from the work of the hands and wrists, but not the speed of these members.

Control your clubhead until the downswing, when speed is perceptibly increased. This should bring you better results.

This—the twentieth—is the final article in my series.

I have attempted to give you a general picture of how the game should be played from the drive from the first tee to the final putt on the eighteenth green. But to learn all the points I have outlined you must constantly practice them for, you must remember that no golfer ever becomes so great that he can play the game without practice.

Girl's Swing Truer Than Male Player's

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

Men can learn a great deal from the golf form of a woman, because it is necessary she follow true form more closely since she has not the strength to get through the ball.

The best of playing champions, among the women, lay particular stress on the right arm as played close into the body.

A girl beginner plays with the right and left far away from the body in an effort to get the club high enough on the back stroke for speed and distance at the point of contact.

This should not be the case if the right elbow is kept in close to the body and the weight is well pivoted around on the backswing.

This rule applies to the men even more so. and is more generally disregarded by them.

The male player figures he can get the ball away out there when the time comes to hit it, but if the swing is not grooved with the left he cannot hit it hard with the right hand and expect to get a straight ball.

Girl stars keep this right arm in close and do all the backswinging on the right leg for a perfect pivot. The stress is so great on the right leg pivot that they fairly dance off the left toe, but so well timed as to get back into a hitting position before the club comes into contact with the ball.

Try holding the right into the ribs and hitting. This will develop a pivot and keep the right hand in position to punch through the ball.

Cardinals Bank On Jess Haines

Grand Old Jess Defeats Boston 10 To 1 And Serves Notice On Connie Mack

VETERAN IS NOW IN FINE SHAPE

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The pennant hopes of the New York Giants, which had taken on a healthy bloom as the result of the club's eight victories in ten starts, died a natural death today as a result of the team's defeat in both ends of a doubleheader with the Cubs yesterday while the league-leading Cardinals downed Boston twice.

With the Cards ten games in front this morning and having only twenty nine unplayed games on their schedule, baseball talk just naturally turned to the world series. And who should be a more intriguing subject than Jess Haines, the old man river of the St. Louis mound staff?

Has Won Eleven

Haines, at the ripe old baseball age of thirty eight, is Gabby Street's best pitching bet for the post-season classic. In winning from Boston yesterday, 10 to 1, the leather-faced veteran served notice on Connie Mack that he will be a tough man to beat this fall.

With a record of eleven victories against three defeats against three defeats, old Jess is leading the National league hurlers, despite the fact that he was kept on the sidelines for a month with an injured right wrist. And this is the fellow who wanted to hang up his glove after the last world series!

Cubs And Yanks Are Advancing

Chicago Cubs And New York Yankees Hope To Finish In Second Place

SENATORS ARE ON DOWN GRADE

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—When the Chicago Cubs installed Rogers Hornsby as manager, kicking out Joe McCarthy, and when the New York Yankees grabbed Marse Joe, the business involved was that each club hoped to win a baseball pennant.

But destiny is a hard-hearted wretch and would like nothing better than to write finis to the 1931 baseball season with the Hornsby-McCarthy feud deadlocked with a runner-up tag.

Of course there's nothing certain the gods will even be kind enough to drop the Yanks and Cubs into second position and might tie them up in third place. The Yanks, even though they lost yesterday to the White Sox, won ten of their 17 western games just finished and are only one game behind the second place Washington Senators, who are riding a fearful banana peel complex. The Cubs are three games behind the Giants but playing a brand of ball that indicates they probably will pass the New Yorkers early in September.

Babe Ruth went hitless as Faber and Frasier held the fort for the White Sox, who won 8 to 5.

Cubs Take Two.

Hornsby's crew humiliated the Giants twice, 4 to 3 and 7 to 4. Malone was too mysterious for the Giants in the opener and held them to three clouts. Vince Barton, late of Los Angeles, helped with a homer. Kiki Cuyler's homer with two on in the eighth started things for the Bruins in the 12-inning finale. Hornsby socked it to tie up the game in the ninth and the Bruin hitters climbed over Fitzsimmons in the 12th, snatching three runs.

Schulte, Burns, Goslin and Kress, the hitting quartet of the St. Louis Brownies, whacked 11 of 16 hits off Walberg and Earnshaw and downed the Athletics, 9 to 5.

Jess Haines and Burleigh Grimes were too good for the Boston Braves St. Louis grabbing a twin bill, 6 to 1 and 6 to 4. The victories gave the Cardinals a sweep of the five game series.

Phil Collins pitched the Phillies to an 8 to 4 triumph over the Cincy Reds in the first game and the Quakers won the second on a ninth inning rally, when Dick Bartell doubled with two out and the bases filled. The finale score was Phils 7, Reds 6.

Roy Johnson poled a home run in the eighth inning to return Detroit a 5 to 4 champion over Washington. Earl Whitehill held the Senators to seven safeties.

Important Game In County League

Scarazzos - Shenango Pottery Game Saturday One Of Important Games Of Day

Only a few more days remain until one of the most important contests of the second half of the Lawrence County league takes place when on Saturday the Shenango Pottery team battles the Scarazzos at Centennial field.

Announce Umpires

This morning Alec Samuels, president of the league made the selection of umpires for the game. So as to avoid any arguments that may arise the president selected three officials to work the contest. The officials are as follows: "Junk" Jones behind the plate; Joe Diana, first base and Ben Price third base.

The Shenango Team will send in their ace in the hole, Paul McCullough. The Scarazzos will probably send in their star hurler "Jewie" Coen. Another pitching duel like the one that took place not long ago when the two hurlers got together is anticipated.

The biggest crowd of the season is predicted.

Retzlaff-Sekyra Fight Is Tonight

Schaaf And Campolo Will Also Battle Tonight; Bouts Delayed Due To Weather

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Charley Retzlaff, Duluth heavyweight, and Joe Sekyra, Dayton, will clash here tonight in their postponed ten-round bout. The battle was put over from Tuesday because of threatening weather.

The bout between Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight managed by Jack Sharkey, and Vic Campolo, scheduled last night at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, was postponed on account of threatened rain until Monday night.

The Tony Canzoneri-Henry Perlick fight scheduled in Bayonne, N. J. last evening, was postponed until tonight. Canzoneri, who will defend his junior welter-weight title, is a 9 to 5 favorite.

Vines-Gledhill Win At Doubles

(International News Service)

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 27.—Those two California youngsters, Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, are vulnerable, after all.

Arnold Jones and James Van Alen employed clever lobbing tactics to take two sets from the highly favored coast stars, and to come within a point of beating them, before Vines and Gledhill could collect themselves and win their way to the third round of the championship play.

Jones and Van Alen have shown the way to the other teams how the Californians can be beaten, and it will be lobs and lobs for the coast aces for the remainder of the week.

Plans are complete for the smoker to be held tonight by the members of the Tigers club at the club rooms of that organization on South Mill street. The smoker will follow the regular meeting which starts promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Delicious refreshments will be served, Secretary Frank Colo stated today.

Dempsey Fights Three More Men

Wins Handily Over Two Of His Opponents, But Third Man Gives Him Real Battle

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 27.—Before an audience of 10,000 fight fans, Jack Dempsey hurled himself upon three heavyweights here last night, and put one to sleep on his feet, pummelled another into a trance, and took a lot of punishment from the third.

Dempsey looked like the champion of old as he weaved and bobbed about Red Tingley, unleashing a furious attack that bowled the Seattle boxer off his feet. Jack caught him as he started to go down and played with the fighter for two minutes, allowing the game but distressed Tingley to hit him at will. Understanding, the crowd cheered Dempsey.

He devoted two rounds to plastering a slashing body attack into the ribs of Denny Lenhard, Portland 187-pounder. Lenhard hit with everything he had but the ex-champ shook off the punches and laced Lenhard almost to helplessness.

Bob Frazier, Rangy Seattle ringman, gave Jack even more battle. He rocked Dempsey's solid body repeatedly and cut loose to punish Dempsey open handedly.

Grid Candidates Meet On Friday

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Orders Gridders To Meet At Stadium Friday

WORKOUT STARTS MONDAY MORNING

About 50 candidates for positions on the 1931 New Castle high school grid eleven will probably answer Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's call on Friday night at Taggart stadium when the first meeting will take place at 7:00 o'clock.

On Friday night the football equipment will be handed out. The first workout of the season will take place on Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock. The initial drill will take place at Taggart field.

With the abolishment of the fall camp all the workouts prior to the opening of the school will take place at Taggart field. On Friday night Coach Bridenbaugh will look over his material.

All football aspirants are asked to take notice of the opening meeting on Friday night at 7:00 o'clock.

Freak Squash Shown At News

B. H. Grinder, of Cherry street, Mahoningtown, brought to The News this morning a strange looking squash—two squashes really, for it was twins.

The squashes, grown together at the sides, are from the Grinder garden. They are of the "pie pan" variety.

Trainor-Blaner Are Medalists

George M. Trainor, New Castle And Ted Blaner, Sharon, Shoot 148 For 36 Holes

THIRTY-TWO IN QUEST OF TITLE

George M. Trainor of the New Castle Field Club course and Ted Blaner of Sharon, a Westminster College student and basketball player, were the medalists or low qualifiers at the Castle Hills golf course in the 36-hole qualifying test for the course championship. Trainor and Blaner turned in 148 for 36 holes.

R. W. Molesworth was third with 150 and M. K. Gilliland had 151 to hold down fourth place, with Bob Thompson of Ellwood City, and Professor McKee of Westminster College hugging the leaders rather closely.

The championship tourney will get under way next week. The final day to qualify is Saturday of this week. There are quite a number of prominent district golfers entered and a fast championship fight is looked for.

Both Trainor and Blaner were hugging par rather closely in their trips over the course. Both golfers turned in 72's for 18 holes, which is very good competitive golf.

POSTAL ACCOUNTS HERE ARE CHECKED

C. A. Callahan, Butler, resident inspector for the post office department, and W. H. Tafel, Erie district inspector, were here on Wednesday making the periodical examination of accounts and inventory of the local office. The audit consumed the entire day.

Both inspectors left for the Pittsburgh office last night.

Scarazzos-Shenango To Battle Saturday In County League

Important Lawrence County League Game At Centennial Field; Look For Hurlers Duel

Scarazzos and the Shenango Pottery are going to play a tie game off this Saturday at Centennial Field that will mean the second half honors and the privilege to battle the Universal Sanitary team for the Lawrence County League championship.

Carm Sacco could not be reached as to whom he would use on the mound, but in all probabilities Paul McCullough, former major league hurler will be pitted against Scarazzos ace, "Jewie" Coen. In their last battle McCullough was the winning pitcher and "Jewie" will be on the mound to avenge that defeat.

Manager Alec Black has called a special practice for tonight and Friday night and all players are to report at 6:30 sharp at Centennial Field.

Old Timers To Play Ryantown

An unusual treat awaits the fans of the city on Friday night when at 6:30 o'clock on the Ryantown field the Old Timers will battle the Ryantown aggregation.

Handsome Allen and Sam Kennedy will be the opposing hurlers. These two teams battled before to a tie. A fast game is expected.

Turkeys should not be exposed to dampness.

SPYING ON SPORTS

THE COSTLY HOMER

In days of old when folks had gold
And came in droves to pay—
They fought, in truth, to see Babe Ruth
Hit homers every day.

With coin now rare and ball parks bare,
The magnates groan and screech,
When baseballs sail beyond the pale:
"They cost two-fifty each!"

It is a paradox of the national amateur golf tournament, held at Beverly club, Chicago, that two of the favorites are paired who have fought it out before in the annual simon pure classic and yet are at opposite age poles of the game of golf.

The one is Francis Ouimet, slender, bespectacled veteran of a score of big-time golf battles.

The other is Charles Kocsis, young, fresh, eager, one of the "babies" in this year's front rank of golfers.

Together with Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston, Frank Dolp, T. P. Perkins, George Voight, Johnny Goodman, they make up the field of favorites in the Battle of Beverly.

Ouimet's chances are liked because of his persistence and spirit, his excellent match game and his refucal to be discouraged though 17 years have passed and he has been unable to duplicate his feat of 1914.

Ouimet was just such a youth as Kocsis when, in the first year of the war, he came to Ekwanok, on the outskirts of Manchester, Vt., fought his way into the finals and in one of the biggest "upsets" of golf humbled the mighty Jerome Travers, 6 and 5.

Just once more did Ouimet come close. In 1920 he fought it out in the finals with Chick Evans and the Chicago star triumphed, 7 and 6.

Ouimet was eliminated in the first round of last year's national amateur at Indian Wood by young Kocsis.

This was Charley's first taste of big time fame, but it didn't go to his head. Beaten by Larry McPhail in the second round, Kocsis came back this year to win the open title of his home state, Michigan, and beat none other than Tommy Armour, the British open champion, to turn the trick.

Kocsis isn't a big fellow, but he looks like a coming star. You know, Bobby Jones isn't a hulking bruiser, either. With the field as open as it is this year, thanks to Bobby Jones' absence, Kocsis stands as much chance to win as any of the tournament's seasoned veterans.

With both almost certain to qualify it would be interesting to see this pair clash again, renew their battle of Yesterday and Tomorrow for one of Today's biggest golf prizes.

Last year the Ouimet-Kocsis battle was one of the best in the tournament. With the "menace" of Jones removed a renewal of that scrap this year may be even better.

Even boxing has been hard hit by a bumper crop—of empty seats.

When two people walk into a boxing arena at the same time, the promoter faints for joy. He thinks prosperity is back.

However, if things get much worse fighters can always make a living selling newspaper extras about how they won the title.

HAVRILLA TO ASSIST TITAN GRID MENTOR

Former Westminster Star To Spend Week In Camp At New Wilmington

(Special to The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Aug. 27—Stephen "Jiggs" Havrilla, North Braddock, star fullback on Westminster College teams for 1924 to 1928, will assist Coach John D. Lawther in the first week of football training camp this fall, Lawther announces.

Havrilla, assistant grid coach at the Scott high school, North Braddock, will help Lawther prime the backfield candidates. He starred at fullback on the 1924, 1925, 1927 and 1928 Titan teams.

Havrilla must return to North Braddock September 7 to be on hand for the start of football practice at Scott high school, so will be able to spend only one week with the Titan gidders. His addition to the coaching staff even for the week however, will be welcomed by Westminster alumni and students.

In all probability, announcement will be made some time this week of another full-time assistant coach to aid Lawther in selecting his teams from the 50 or more men who will be in camp. A meeting of the athletic council this week or next will settle this matter.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks Drop After Gain In First Hour

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Stocks settled down to a slightly lower level of prices in the first period today, rallied about the end of the first hour and again fell off under the weight of professional selling. The Rails started the session at declines of a point or so, as the result of the sharp falling off in July net income of some of the well known systems. The Oils, Utilities and specialties were firm. Yesterday's closing rally in Railroad bonds was extended into the first period today, and current prices showed recoveries of 2 to 6 points above Wednesday's low.

Officials announcement of the contemplated merger of the Standard Oil Companies of New Jersey and California into a new $2,400,000,000 industrial giant, was the most important incident of the day's early business news. The stock of the companies were relatively quiet, around 40½, and the balance of the Oil group was steady. Anaconda Copper, Kennecott and American Smelting moved into fractionally higher ground. The amusement stocks were also firm with slightly higher prices for Radio Keith, Fox and Loews.

New dips in the well known rails in the second hour brought New York Central down 1½ points to 69½; Pennsylvania down 1 to 38½; Atchison down 1¼ to 135¾; Union Pacific down 1¼ to 140. J. I. Case and Kreuger and Toll, two of yesterday's active stocks, fell off more than a joint each, while Industrial Alcohol advanced a point. U. S. Steel moved with the radius of 1 point, between 87¾ and 88¾, with most sales above 88.

Cotton sold off about 50 cents a bale, and commodity markets in General were steady, call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

Pinchot Goes To Home In Milford Escaping Strife

Governor Pinchot Refuses To Be Drawn Into Factional Fights In Coming Primaries

HOPES TO AVOID EMBARRASSMENT

Pinchot Asked To Repudiate Letter Charging Dismissals Over Elections

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—By absenting himself from Harrisburg until after the fall primaries, Gov. Gifford Pinchot intends to prevent his becoming further embroiled in the bitter factional wars marking political activity in almost every county of the state, it was indicated here today.

The bovernor today announced his intention of leaving here tonight for his Milford home and hinted broadly he will not be availabie to political favor-seekers while there.

To Speak in Missouri.

On September 1 he will speak before the Missouri Farmers' association at Sedalia, Mo. No date has been fixed for the governor's return here but it is believed he will continue to absent himself until after the balloting on September 15.

Administration participation in county fights has caused the governor considerable trouble, particularly in Allegheny county where the tangled situation led to the resignation of James F. Malone, once an able Pinchot lieutenant, as state secretary of property and supplies.

The situation in Dauphin county also reached the breaking point today with publication of a letter from Anti-Pinchot forces in which they charged Capitol Hill employes are being coerced with threats of dismissal and demands for campaign contributions.

The letter to the governor charged that "in your name and behalf" local Pinchot leaders are threatening employes with dismissal unless they line up for the county slate announced by the executive office. Not only employes but also members of their families and neighbors must be approached to obtain support for the administration ticket, the letter charged.

Threaten Dismissals

Like threats are being used to obtain contributions for the ticket "under color of support of your administration" the letter continued.

"In view of your severe condemnation of such practices in the past, we cannot believe that you are familiar with these activities, and that you will promptly repudiate them," the letter said in closing.

The letter was signed by County Commissioner M. Harvey Taylor, who is leading the opposition to the ticket announced from the governor's office and which bore the approval of W. J. Stiteler, who managed the Pinchot gubernatorial campaigns in Dauphin county.

Will Avoid Strife

Stiteler was appointed manager of the state insurance fund early this year and immediately began dismissing veteran employes who were aligned with other factions. That, coupled with his appointment of a former business associate to a $4080 job, served to unite other warring factions in a concerted effort to beat the ticket which Stiteler heads .

On the few days the governor has been here during the summer his office has been crowded with politicians and job seekers seeking an executive audience. The crowds have been so large that it has been impossible for even the governor's secretary to see all of them.

By absenting himself from Harrisburg and refusing to participate openly in county fights the governor hopes to avoid further strife it is believed.

Cannon's Financial Juggling Is Puzzle For Nye Committee

Bewildering Banking Activity Of Bishop Cannon Stumps Senate Probers

Opened An Account For Dead Woman And Dead Organization In Bank In Virginia

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The bewildering banking activities of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., while he headed the Anti-Smith Democratic movement in the 1928 campaign, today presented a puzzle of finance which the Nye Campaign Fund Committee sought to strip of mystery.

Two members of the committee—Senators Nye (R) of North Dakota and Dill (D) of Washington—charged the Bishop had diverted campaign donations to his personal accounts. This was significant as the Methodist Episcopal, South, Bishop has failed to account for $43,000 of a $65,000 donation by E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist, in 1928 to support the fight against Alfred E. Smith in the South.

Members Amazed

The committee members were amazed by bankers' reports on the devious methods followed by Cannon in handling the political donations. Funds, given him for use in the Anti-Smith campaign, would be deposited in one bank, a check drawn on that account and paid into a Cannon account in another bank, followed by another transaction which dropped the political moneys into some obscure Virginia bank to the Bishop's personal account, it was testified.

One such transaction involved an $8,000 political donation by Jameson. It was illustrative of many others. In October, 1928 Jameson used his personal check to obtain an $8,000 cashier's check from the Lawyer's Trust Company in New York City. He sent this cashier's check to Cannon, who informed the First National Bank in the little town of Blackstone, Va., he desired a certificate of deposit, drawing 3 per cent interest, on some funds he held in trust for the "Newspaper Supply Company, of Richmond." This company's charter had been revoked nine years before.

Transferred Account

The bank gave Cannon this certificate and the Bishop paid for it with the $8,000 cashier's check sent him by Jameson. The certificate matured on February 3, 1929, with $70.67 in accrued interest. Cannon took the check of the Blackstone bank and ten days later deposited it in the village bank at Crewe, Va., as the executor for Mrs. Mary C. Moore, who had been dead five years, bankers told the committee. In October, 1929, a year after he had received the Jameson donation, he closed the "executor account" and transferred the money to his personal savings account in the same little bank.

The tracing of this single donation required tedious effort and examination of the records of three banks. In the American Bank and Trust Company at Richmond Cannon had maintained two accounts during the 1928 campaign, one in his own name and the other under the name of "Anti-Smith Democrats, James Cannon, Jr., Chairman," testimony divulged.

Opened New Accounts

On February 11, 1929—Three months after the campaign ended—Cannon had $549.81 in his own account and was overdrawn slightly in the Anti-Smith account. He thereupon drew checks totalling more than $18,000 on each account, depositing each group of checks in the opposite account. This enabled his secretary, Miss Ada L. Burroughs to report that the Anti-Smith Democrats had received a $17,000 political contribution from Cannon—forwarded from Jameson—on that date, it was revealed, thereby allowing her to report she had paid to Cannon "in refunds" a total slightly exceeding $17,000 on the same day.

"What interests us," observed Senator Dill, "is Cannon's action in starting new accounts during this campaign. He had five or six other bank accounts yet he started two new accounts, one for a dead concern and the other for a dead woman, with funds which included political donations. Then he mixed all his accounts between the various banks until he created an endless labyrinth of financial dealings. And all the while, there existed a purely political banking account into which all these moneys should have been paid."

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Election day can come any day now, we're registered. Early this morning we dropped in to see the ladies, laid old tax receipt down on the table, admitted we were a citizen, lived here, and weighed 150 pounds. Everything being under copasetic the names went down on the dotted line, or maybe it was a straight line and the country is ready to be saved again.

Perhaps everybody in New Castle wasn't in the park last night. Only about every third one but it seemed like a lot more. For hours the traffic out East Washington street was so heavy that residents along there had difficulty getting out of their own driveways.

You may be interested to know that here in Lawrence county we have a genuine Indian mound. Don't take our word for it we're no authority on Indian mounds, but according to Frederick A. Godcharles, former chief of the State museum, there is a real Indian mound here.

It's location is out on the Big run, about half a mile up from the Butler road, located in a dense thicket. Godcharles is verified in his statement by Challice Bruce a local historian and geologist who says that the mound goes back to the days of the tribes who were here before the Indians of the period of the revolution.

The mound is situated in an area that is level on all sides surrounding the mound which adds strength to the belief. The age of trees on top of it indicate that it was there many many years ago, although some cursory digging has revealed no sign of relics.

This is explained by Mr. Bruce who says that such things would disinteograte in that particular sort of earth and stone. If you're interested we'll try and get you some more information on the mound.
